Capper Says Tokyo Must Get Out Of Axis To Stay Away From Strife

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — British Prime Minister Churchill's speech warning Japan against further aggression was applauded in Washington today by Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, as an effort "to persuade the American people that they should go to war at once on England's side."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — Administration supporters today approved British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's address warning Japan against further expansion moves while Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leading non-interventionist, branded it an attempt to "frighten" the United States into war.

The prime minister told Japan that Britain will line up with the United States if Japanese military expansion leads to war and also warned that Germany will war on America if the Nazis ever conquer Russia and England.

Wheeler, bitter foe of the New Deal foreign policy and all-out aid to England, declared that the address was "designed to frighten the United States into the idea that we have got to get into the war now or else Hitler will get us."

"We don't need any help from Great Britain or anybody else," he added. "We're able to take care of ourselves."

Few Americans, the Montanan added, will be impressed by the prime minister's speech.

Rep. Sol Bloom (D) N. Y., chairman of House Foreign Affairs Committee, said that Churchill has "given new hope to the

HEAVY BRITISH BOMBERS BLAST TRIPOLI REGION

CAIRO, Aug. 25—Heavy bombers of the Royal Air Force dropped nearly twenty tons of bombs on docks, supply and petrol dumps in Tripoli Harbor the last two nights, the middle east command announced today.

A number of direct hits were scored and large fires started, it was said. One of these fires was visible from a distance of 135 miles.

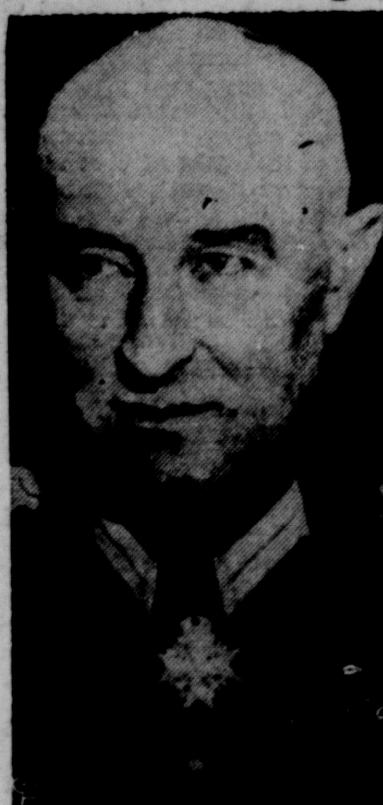

All participating planes were said to have returned to their bases.

ALL Frenchmen arrested by or for German authorities are being held as hostages for the assassination of a German officer in Paris, according to an order issued by Lieut. Gen. von Schaumburg, commander of the German forces of occupation in France. If any further such incidents occur, he said, numbers of hostages will be shot. The general is shown above.

DRIVER BLAMED AS SEVEN DIE

Big Bus Crashes Into Three Cars; Flames Envelope One

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 25—Carl Ramsey, 30-year-old Greyhound bus driver, today was ordered held on a reckless driving charge after his New York-bound bus crashed into three cars, killed seven persons and injuring 16 others, one critically.

Six members of one family were burned to death and a seventh was fatally injured. An eighth member of the same family was critically injured and was not expected to live. The six who were fatally burned were pinned beneath their car which burst into flames when the gas tank exploded.

The bus, carrying 33 passengers from Albany, also caught fire but not until the passengers had escaped through an emergency rear door.

Police said the accident happened when Joseph Bason, 38, Jersey City, N. J., turned out to pass two stalled cars on the highway. The bus rammed the Bason car, and then swung around and struck the two stalled machines.

Bason, hurled from the car, was killed instantly and his brother, William, 31, was critically injured. Pinned under the car were Joseph's wife, Blanche; his daughters, Charlotte, 8, Marion, 5, Barbara, 4; and his sisters, Elizabeth, 25, and Ann, 19.

HARRISVILLE, Mich., Aug. 25—Funeral arrangements were made today for seven young persons, including two teen age girls, who were killed in a head-on collision Sunday near Harrisville. State Trooper Bertil Froberg said one car carrying six passengers collided head-on with the second auto while attempting to pass another machine on a hill.

Dead were Miss Jerilyn Wilson, 19, Detroit; Miss Jean Eno, 19, Hubbard Lake; Lloyd Gallagher, 21, Oscoda, sole occupant of the second car; and four other Detroiters—Melvin Erstad, 20, Lloyd Larson, 19, and Arthur Enger, 18, and Arthur Hanna, 19.

CIO Orders 16,000 Workmen To Return To Kearny, N. J., Drydock

BIG CONTRACTS PENDING

Two Cruisers, Four Cargo Ships, Destroyers To Be Speeded

KEARNY, N. J., Aug. 25—Officials of the CIO's Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, sponsors of the 17-day walkout at the Kearny plant of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, today ordered the striking 16,000 workers to return to their jobs tomorrow.

The return-to-work orders were issued after Navy officials, acting under authority of President Roosevelt, took over the shipyards yesterday and assumed responsibility for the completion of the two cruisers, six destroyers and four cargo ships now on the ways.

Under the direction of Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, who was delegated Saturday night to take charge of the plant, foremen and other supervisory personnel met at the shipyard today as a preliminary to resumption of full operations on the $450,000,000 contracts at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Pickets Withdrawn

There was no show of force when the Navy assumed control yesterday afternoon and officers said they did not expect marines or uniformed sailors to be summoned to duty at the plant. Picket lines immediately were withdrawn after Navy officers entered the giant yards.

The CIO's decision to call off the strike at the shipyard, the second largest on the eastern seaboard, came after union leaders informed a mass meeting of the local at Jersey City that the government intended to enforce the "maintenance of membership" (Continued on Page Two)

.3 INCH RAIN RECORDED HERE IN EARLY MORNING

A heavy rainfall that accompanied thunder and lightning swept over Circleville and most of Pickaway County about 2 a. m. Monday, the downpour totalling .3 of an inch.

Weather observers reported the barometer falling, indicating unsettled weather.

Survivor Of Zam Zam Talks At Camp Session

The hundreds of persons attending the annual camp meeting sessions of Churches of Christ in Christian Union at the East Ohio Street Mount of Praise will be given an eye-witness story of the sinking of the Zam Zam, Egyptian ship that fell prey to a German sea raider, when Miss Margaret Thompson of Monroe, O., a missionary who survived the sinking, appears on the program Tuesday between 8 and 9 a. m.

Miss Thompson was enroute to Africa where she intended to serve with the National Holiness Association missionaries when the Zam Zam was sunk in the South Atlantic about 1,450 miles from Cape Town.

Her story will relate various incidents of the rescue at sea, of the journey into Nazi-occupied France and of the return home.

The talk will be a feature of Missionary Hour, conducted each morning between 8 and 9 o'clock. The Rev. Bona Fleming of Columbus, one of the outstanding preachers attending the camp session, will preach at 7:30 p. m. Monday, highlighting the evening program.

Camp ground officials estimated that 12,000 persons visited the camp, meeting sessions Sunday, moving in and out of the grounds from early morning until late at night. A marked increase in the number of women attending the services is noted by camp authorities. The day was a highly successful one, with all services being attended by capacity audiences.

Tank Warfare in Louisiana Maneuvers

MECHANIZED warfare is practised by U. S. troops in maneuvers around Camp Polk, La., as a tank corps theoretically meets the enemy. Corp. Spirit of Redlevel, Ala., waits patiently with his Thompson sub-machine gun for a couple of rapid shots while his tank division waits in ambush for the enemy.

New 'Destroyer' Force Boosts Army's Morale

CAMP POLK, La., Aug. 25—The Army's new "destroyer force," a hard-hitting offensive arm designed to simplify the task of defense and at the same time deal telling blows to opposing armored units, was hailed today by Brig. Gen. Ludwig S. Connelly, Cleveland, O., as a splendid morale builder.

General Connelly, who commands the 73rd Infantry Brigade in the 37th (Ohio) division, said the new "tank-killer" units "will have to stand more tests before we'll know what they can do," but he pointed out that any new striking force developed in the army improves the morale of the men.

The first "D. F." unit placed in the field as Third Army maneuvers began in Louisiana this week was commanded by General Connelly. It included about 300 trucks, with a squadron of observation planes attached.

Stopping an organized attack by a strong Panzer (armored) force is one of the toughest jobs the army faces, and the new destroyer force, a highly mobile outfit, is intended to make lightning stabs against the enemy to prevent or hamper the organizing of a tank attack.

The fire of 75's, 37 mm. and heavy machine guns is turned loose to destroy and cripple tanks and armored vehicles, the engineers block roads and build fields of tank mines, and the chemical troops throw out smoke screens to disorganize the potential attackers.

It was revealed that Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, Columbus, O., came near being captured by the opposing "Blue" army this week, when he and several staff officers, growing restless while their unit was being held in reserve, went to the front lines on a reconnaissance sortie.

In the nick of time they discovered the position of some "Blue" riflemen a few yards ahead. Beightler and his party dropped to the ground and by crawling managed to withdraw to safety. They then organized a platoon of their own forces and, through a flanking movement, captured the Blues who had come within an ace of taking the general and his party.

52 WITNESSES CALLED BY JURY

Special Session May Take Three Days; Manslaughter Complaints Probed

A special grand jury session that is expected to require all of two days and probably part of the third one was under way in Pickaway County Common Pleas court Monday, with 52 witnesses subpoenaed by Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt to testify in 32 cases.

DETROIT'S CARS RUNNING; BALLOT TO BE TUESDAY

DETROIT, Aug. 25—Street cars and buses again were rolling through Detroit today and the jurisdictional dispute between CIO and AFL unions which culminated in a five-day strike against the city-owned transportation system was reduced to a campaign for votes.

Operations resumed yesterday after both unions had agreed in principle to return to work under a strike settlement calling for a collective bargaining election tomorrow among the 5,500 employees of the Department of Street Railways. The voting will be conducted by the City Election Commission.

By terms of the agreement reached by Mayor Edward J. Jeffries and union leaders the winner tomorrow will obtain "sole and exclusive bargaining rights" and exclusive bulletin board and check-off privileges.

F. D. R. NAMES BIDDLE NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—President Roosevelt today named Francis Biddle of Philadelphia, as attorney general, succeeding Robert H. Jackson who was recently elevated to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Biddle has been solicitor-general since January and acting attorney general since Jackson's promotion. His nomination was sent to the senate, where no opposition to confirmation is anticipated.

TAFT ASSAILS TUGWELL AS FOE OF DEMOCRACY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Charging that Rexford Guy Tugwell is a foe of American democracy, Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, in a speech in the Senate today, opposed his confirmation as governor of Puerto Rico.

The Ohio senator cited statements from books and speeches by Tugwell, designed to bolster the contention that the former New Deal under-secretary of agriculture is "unfit" to govern 2,000,000 people in the strategically located and crowded island possession.

"In my opinion, Mr. Tugwell has not the slightest sympathy with the ideals of American democracy," said Taft. "There can be little doubt of this because he has written many books and he has made many speeches setting forth his beliefs."

Allied Forces Act Following Failure Of Important Oil-Producing Empire To Put Out German "Fifth Columnists"

BERLIN ANGRY, SPOKESMEN INDICATE

No Important Changes In Positions Of Reich And Soviet Armies Reported

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
British and Russian troops marched into the oil-rich kingdom of Iran this morning after repeated warnings to the Teheran government to get rid of Nazi "fifth columnists" in the country.

London reported that the Russians were driving south from the Caucasus, while the British were moving north into Southern Iran from Baluchistan.

Berlin disputed this, saying that the British were driving due east from Iraq.

That the German government attached the utmost importance to the invasion of Iran was shown by the bitterness with which the move was attacked in Berlin.

The German radio, quoting advices from Ankara, declared that the small but crack Persian Army was resisting the invasion, and spoke of "numerous clashes" around the Caucasian border.

A German spokesman said: "Great Britain is indisputably guilty of handing a sovereign nation over to Bolshevism by wilfully overpowering small Iran on a false pretext."

Meanwhile, the gigantic Russo-German war roared into its tenth bloody week with indications that the fighting is growing more intense, rather than slackening.

There was no appreciable change reported in the positions of the world's two mightiest armies. The Soviet high command, however, claimed a victory in the Baltic where four German troop transports were said to have been sunk.

Increasingly bitter fighting raged around Leningrad in the north, and in the great agricultural and industrial area of the southern Ukraine. Moscow had nothing to say about the fierce Soviet counter-offensive of the last three days on the Central Front.

That Britain is preparing for any eventuality in the Far East was shown by the arrival at Singapore of a large number of Royal Air Force officers and men to reinforce the already strong garrison at Britain's "Gibraltar of the east."

PRIVATE LOUIS SUMMERS WISER AS HE STAYS IN GUARDHOUSE AT CAMP

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 25—Last week, Private Louis Summers was a sentry outside the guardhouse at Fort Sheridan. Today he was a prisoner, inside.

In between this turnaround, Private Summers was taken for a ride—literally and figuratively—by two fellow soldiers, Privates Harry R. Pearson, 20, and Ted Wegeman, 25.

Privates Pearson and Wegeman were in the guardhouse when Private Summers was outside. Saturday, Pearson and Wegeman got talking to Summers and the three men found they had something in common besides their uniforms. All were thirsty. (It was a warm day.)

So, Privates Pearson and Wegeman suggested the three of them go to a tavern in Waukegan for a drink, with Pearson and Wegeman as Summers' prisoners.

That was the idea. But after Summers had quenched his thirst he couldn't find his prisoners. They not only had walked out but left him with an $8 check to pay.

JOHN NEFF SR., FORMER COUNTY TREASURER, DIES

Complications following a long period of ill health caused the death Sunday of John Neff Sr. in Shreveport, La., where he and Mrs. Neff had been visiting for the last two months with their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Poor, Mr. Poor and family. Mr. Neff, whose Columbus home was at 432 Seventeenth Avenue, was a former resident of Circleville, where he was widely known.

He served as Pickaway County treasurer and was for many years clerk of the Jackson Township school board. He was a member of the Methodist Church of Circleville.

Mr. Neff, who was a retired farmer, was the son of John S. and Mary Owens Neff.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McPherson Neff, and the following children, Mrs. M. E. Noggle, West Union Street; Mrs. Chester Valentine, Salt Creek Township; Mrs. E. A. Wanner, Mrs. M. F. Cordray and John S. Neff Jr. of Columbus and Mrs. Poor of Shreveport. He also leaves eight grandchildren.

The body is expected to arrive in Circleville Tuesday. Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noggle, 149 West Union Street, with burial in the family lot at Forest cemetery, in charge of M. S. Rinehart.

columnists' whom they charged had filtered into Iran to a dangerous extent, Britain and Russia sent their troops across the Iranian borders this morning.

The British foreign office announced the action had been taken after the Iran government indicated it was not prepared to accede to joint Anglo-Russian demands for expulsion of the Germans in Iran.

Nevertheless, Britain disclaimed any designs on Iranian independence or territorial integrity and said the troop movements were directed solely against axis agents menacing Iran's neutrality, British interests and neighboring countries. Russia proclaimed its troops would be withdrawn when the "danger is over."

But the move temporarily overshadowed other war developments since it brought conflict to a new front and opened up still more possibilities for its spread—possibilities which might sooner or later involve Turkey, India, the Russian Caucasus and the strategic Persian Gulf.

Reaction Awaited

Simultaneously Britain awaited official reaction from Tokyo to the dramatic address of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who warned that Britain will stand solidly with the United States in any showdown in the Pacific between America and Japan.

Reporting on his conference in the Atlantic with President Roosevelt, Churchill indicated this was one of the principal decisions reached. This morning a Reuters (British) message from Tokyo said authorities there were "amazed" by Churchill's references to Japan and insisted Japan is "not menacing anybody."

Simultaneously the great Russo-German conflict raged without abatement. Germany reported that Nazi forces were still hammering relentlessly against Russian key points on the Eastern Front.

Germany also claimed that Nazi U-boats and surface raiders had sunk 25 British merchant vessels and warships in an attack on a huge convoy en route to Gibraltar in the North Atlantic.

War in the air continued between Britain and Germany. RAF planes raided western Germany while Nazi raiders dropped a few bombs on coastal areas of Britain.

CHILD, 2, HUNTED THROUGH NIGHT, FOUND IN WOODS

RAVENNA, Aug. 25—An all night search by 300 citizens and police ended today when Ronald Bunn, 2, who had wandered away from his home in nearby Twinsburg, was found in a woods.

The child disappeared while in the care of Benjamin Zoumack, 25, a friend of Mrs. Dorothy Bunn, the child's mother. Zoumack was listening to a phonograph and when he went in the house to change a record Ronald vanished. Soaking wet and crying when he was found, Ronald was suffering a fever, physicians said.

CITY NEED NOT FEAR SERIOUS AID SITUATION

Relief Director Delos H. Marcy provided a little sunshine for Circleville's dark financial situation Monday when he said that barring anything unforeseen happening that Circleville's relief financing situation would not become any more serious because of shortages in treasury receipts.

Marcy said that while Circleville is having difficulty making ends meet that its relief load is not such a serious one. He pointed out that August 1, 1940 the city owed Pickaway County $8,014.45 and that at the end of 1940 the Central Relief office carried over to the 1941 budget a city debt of $1,433.44.

August 1, 1941, found the city owing the county $3,618.48 or $4,395.97 less than the same date a year ago.

"The city will be able," Marcy said, "to take care of its relief debt at the end of 1941 with money already set up by its budget with funds in the process of collection."

Circleville on an average has about 55 percent of the total relief load handled by the Central office.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

A common rule in business is that work will not be paid for until the job is completed. This is chiefly to insure that it will be finished satisfactorily and within a reasonable time, although there may be additional reasons.

This same principle is sometimes carried over into the laws that govern Public Notices of various kinds. Ohio has a statute, for example, which requires the publication of school district financial reports. To insure this it empowers the school board to hold up payment of the clerk's salary until the law is complied with. In other words, the clerk is supposed to complete his tasks or wait for his pay.

The underlying purpose here is far more important than merely to "hold out" on the clerk, if need be. It is to insure that the finances of this major public activity shall be reported on regularly for the benefit of the taxpayers. A related purpose is to forestall any misuse of public funds.

This is sound public policy and should be followed to the letter of the law. As the law so often provides, the best medium for carrying out this purpose is the local newspaper. This insures a wide coverage and thorough reading while the cost is fixed by law.

conquered nations and to the enslaved people of the world."

Sens. Thomas (D) Utah and Capper (R) Kansas, members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, supported the prime minister's stand on the tense Far-Eastern situation.

Capper said that Churchill gave Japan some "good advice," while Thomas commented that Nippon was notified that "she must get herself out of the Rome-Berlin axis."

The address, Thomas added, restated "the whole American policy of non-recognition of conquest by force and was consistent with what our policy has been in the Far East."

LONDON, Aug. 25—All Britain today awaited a reply from Japan—by word or deed—to Prime Minister Winston Churchill's grave warning that Britain would line up with the United States in the event further Nipponese military expansion brings war to the Far East.

The first reaction from Japan was in the form of a Reuters (British) Tokyo dispatch.

This message said authoritative Japanese sources were "amazed" by Churchill's references to Japan and that they said Japan is "not menacing anybody."

Churchill issued his warning to his dramatic radio broadcast reporting on his recent meeting at sea with President Roosevelt.

He also warned that Germany may next attack Turkey, Sweden or Spain and will launch war against the United States if she ever conquered Britain and Russia.

Declaring the Japanese advance to the south must be halted, Churchill reviewed "five long years" in which "Japanese military factions, seeking to emulate the style of Hitler and Mussolini" have been "invading and harrying the 500,000,000 inhabitants of China."

"Now they (the Japanese) stretch a grasping hand into the southern areas of China," said Churchill.

"They menace by their movements Siam (Thailand), and Singapore, the British link with Asia, and menace also the Philippine Islands under the protection of the United States."

"It is certain that this has got to stop."

"Every effort will be made to secure a peaceful settlement. The United States is laboring with infinite patience to arrive at a fair and amicable settlement which will give Japan the utmost reassurance of her legitimate interests. We earnestly hope these negotiations will succeed."

"But this I must say: That if these hopes should fail, we shall of course range ourselves unhesitatingly at the side of the United States."

Thus pledging British support to America in the event of a Far Eastern showdown, Churchill intimated that this was one of the chief results of his historic conference with President Roosevelt.

Touching a wide range of subjects, Churchill praised the "magnificent" Russian resistance against Germany and declared that for the first time "Nazi blood has flowed in a fearful flood."

He said that "certainly 1,500,000, perhaps 2,000,000 of Nazi cannon fodder have bit the dust of the endless plains of Russia." He added that the Nazi war machine has been "surprised, stopped and staggered."

Churchill recalled that in the 8-point declaration, he and President Roosevelt "jointly pledged their countries to the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny." He added:

"This is a solemn and grave undertaking. It must be made good. It will be made good. And, of course, many practical arrangements to fulfill that purpose have been and are being organized and set in motion."

THE OLD HOME TOWN

200 REPENTANT SINNERS CLEAN; FIREMEN ASSIST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Some 200 repentant sinners today were washed clean of their sins, thanks to the fire department.

The washing was done with a fire hose, hooked on to a pumper, and took place at Bishop C. M. "Daddy" Grace's mass baptismal ceremony in the capital yesterday.

A full city block was roped off for the ceremonial. A huge crowd gathered to watch the event and also participate when water from the big fire hose poured out over everybody. Even those on roof tops were showered.

Bishop Grace, patriarch of the United House of Prayer, assured the converts that the "angels in Heaven are taking down this event in short-hand and they're taking shorthand pretty fast."

The baptismal was accompanied by the blaring of two brass bands with plenty of wind power behind them. Thoroughly drenched, with clothes clinging to black, brown and tan bodies, the converts entered into the spirit with heads thrown back and eyes rolling, trucked and jived round and round as the bands played on.

PENALTIES ON OHIO WHEAT CROP SET AT 1.4 PERCENT

COLUMBUS, Aug. 25—Ohio farmers have paid AAA marketing penalties or posted cash bonds for excess wheat under the marketing program on less than 1.4 percent of the 1941 crop, State AAA Chairman Elmer Kruse reported today.

Cash bonds, guaranteeing that excess wheat will not be sold, amounted to $348,097, covering 710,403 bushels of Ohio's 49,722,000-bushel crop. This is to be returned if the farmer complies with AAA regulations in the future.

MOTHER OF TEN WANTS ALL SONS TO ASSIST U. S.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25—Mrs. Elizabeth Venhaus, widowed mother of seven sons and three daughters, wants America to be so strong no one will dare attack her, and to help America gain that strength, she said today, she stands willing to give all her sons to Uncle Sam.

One of Mrs. Venhaus' sons, Bernard, 19, lost his life when the Navy submarine O-9 went to the bottom of the Atlantic during a test dive June 20 off New London, Conn., and two other sons, Herbert, 21, and Robert, 17, are serving in the Navy now.

Robert joined the Navy July 17, less than a month after Bernard's death. Because of his youth, his mother's consent was necessary before he could be enlisted. She gave it willingly, and in a letter to the Navy forwarding her consent papers, she explained:

"It is hard to do, but Bernard loved the Navy and for that reason I believe it will be a good place for Bob. I know Bernard would have said, 'Mom, sign those papers.' I only hope Bob puts his heart and soul into his work, as Bernard did. We must all bring sacrifices to attain our reward."

That letter was brought to the attention of Secretary of the Navy Knox, who in reply told Mrs. Venhaus that her spirit of patriotism "is the spirit which has made our Navy the greatest in the world—it is the spirit which built this country."

BOOKMOBILE TO APPEAR WEDNESDAY AT OHIO FAIR

The Circleville Public Library's bookmobile has been invited to be on display all day Wednesday, August 27, at the Ohio State Fair. It will be in front of the Music Hall.

A radio interview is planned for 2:15 p. m. Wednesday from the Music Hall. Among those to be interviewed are George McDowell, county superintendent of schools, Mrs. Dick Jones and family of Salt Creek Township who represent a typical family of bookmobile patrons, and Dan Ploutz, librarian.

clause. It was the company's rejection of this clause that precipitated the strike.

Under this modified closed shop plan all present and future members of the union would have to remain members in good standing to retain their jobs, but non-members would not be required to join. No assurances on this point were given in the brief Navy statement announcing the taking over of the yard.

Owner Asks Cooperation

L. H. Korndorff, president of the shipyard, who asked the government to assume operation of the plant, rather than give in on the closed shop issue, issued a statement urging the workers to return to their jobs without recriminations or ill-will and to cooperate fully with the government.

There was no immediate indication whether the Navy planned to retain Korndorff and his staff to aid in the supervision of the shipyard.

second ward; Clarence Brown, New Holland, and W. M. Reid, fourth ward, who was appointed foreman.

Most important actions being considered were those charging manslaughter against Clyde W. Cooper of Portsmouth, who is blamed for the traffic death of infant James Franklin Black in June, and Dr. Edward Schumaker, 303 East Beck Street, Columbus, who is blamed for the Independence Day fatality of Mrs. Gladys Rhoades of Red House, W. Va., in a crash north of Circleville.

Other cases include non-support, assault and battery, larceny and driving when intoxicated.

The jury went into session at 9:30 a. m. and in the first 45 minutes had heard three minor actions. Witnesses have been summoned for Monday morning and afternoon and Tuesday morning and afternoon, but indications are that some of those to be heard Tuesday will be held over until Wednesday morning.

An additional case was sent before the jury Monday when Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges held James Toles, Maplewood Avenue, to the grand jury for assault and battery of Arthur Nungster. Toles is under $200 bond. A similar charge was put against Nungster by Toles following a fight that climaxed a pre-primary election "party".

STEER IS FOUND, AND SHERIFF HUNTS OWNER

Sheriff Charles Radcliff has found a steer, and now he is trying to locate its owner.

The sheriff asked The Herald Monday to inquire concerning the steer. It appeared at a county farm, and the farmer in whose possession it is at the present time wants its owner to show up. Radcliff, too, would like to return the steer, reported to be a good one, to its rightful owner.

Anyone losing a steer should contact the sheriff.

ASHVILLE CLUB STARTS DRIVE FOR POOL FUND

Twenty Solicitors Meet At Breakfast, Go To Work With $5,000 Sought

Walnut Township FFA Boys Have Exhibits Placed At State Fair

Ashville, Phone 79

The Ashville Athletic Club drive to raise $5,000, with which to build a swimming pool started off with a bang Monday.

About 20 solicitors and club officials had an early morning ham and egg breakfast at Mrs. Pontius' Restaurant at which time the chairman of the drive committee, E. F. Schlegel gave his solicitors final, definite instructions and assignment of territory.

A unique feature of the affair was the manner in which the solicitors were notified regarding the breakfast, each being delivered by motorcycle messenger, a Western Union telegraph form. From the enthusiasm displayed it is hoped that this drive may be put over within a very few days.

All persons solicited for the purchase of a bond are requested to cooperate as fully as possible in the matter.

And that is good news again. Never did think a whole lot of Doc. Rocky's nice dental chair and those soup-filled needles that hurt awful while it lasted but the tooth yankin' out was really nice when it was all over and presented, free of charge, a couple or so of nice aspirin tablets. But about the good news. Saw this morning, a sign tacked to the door leading to that long stairway, reading: "Be back September 1." And that made the dozen or so old molar and such that should be discarded, take a few extra jumps for joy.

Ashville—Grand Dad and Mom Higley received a telegram from their son Joe, Chicago, telling them of the arrival of a new daughter, their first child.

Ashville—Have new neighbors since Saturday evening, Curtis and Mrs. Minix, of Portsmouth, now occupying the rooms in the Squire building, made vacant by the removal of Harold Pontius and wife.

Ashville—The Mrs. Dora Baum surplus household goods sale Saturday afternoon was well attended with prices ruling in the "fair" class, they told us.

Ashville—This is really "move week" again, Mrs. Blanch Baker leading the movers by occupying the Briggs dwelling near the U. B. church and Mrs. Baum to the Clara Sark place vacated by Mrs. Baker and Ed Irwin and family to their own home recently purchased of Mrs. Baum, East Main Street. And to get all set for the beginning of school a week from tomorrow, Coach Dick Carter and his family are expected here this week occupying the Will Hall property on the West Side.

Ashville—D. E. Ruff, one of our well known farmers and stock raisers, home over on 23, north of South Bloomfield, has a 32-head herd of fat cattle on exhibit and for sale at the State Fair this week. Said the average weight of the bunch is around 1050 pounds. Mr. Ruff said that his was the only fat cattle, herd exhibit at the Fair from this county in the sale or commercial class as it is known among cattle dealers.

Ashville—Met here Saturday evening Mrs. E. B. Hay, Madison Township, and her daughter the former Elizabeth Hay, now Mrs. Earl Drum, Columbus. Mrs. Drum was one of the senior class to first graduate here in the new school building, 1929. And following this, taught three years here in Grade One. Best recall her and the then Miss Margaret Jennings as real violinists, playing lead parts in the orchestra. Mrs. Drum said that the violin is a part quantity now, her time being devoted to bookkeeping work for the three paint stores operated by Mr. Drum.

Ashville—Kenneth Holtrey says the "hardest" week of the summer is on hand with all the activities of the Ohio State Fair's agriculture exhibit affecting his high school boys to oversee. Sixteen boys have entries on display at the Fair and it will be Mr. Holtrey's duty to see that the boys get their pro-

Dwight Radcliff's New Pet Is Cigar Ash Eater

Dwight Radcliff has a new dog, and from now on trustees at the Pickaway County Jail will never again have the job of sweeping away cigar ashes.

This dog, a pedigreed toy Boston bull, has a mania for eating cigar ashes.

A couple of months ago Dwight's pal, Pooch, also a Boston bull but not quite so blue-blooded as his present pet, ran into the path of a car on West Franklin Street, and immediately departed for a one way trip to Dog Heaven. Dwight had owned Pooch about six years, and declared that no other dog would ever take his place.

Then his dad, Sheriff Charles Radcliff, bought the new pet from a dog fancier in Laurelville, who said that the name Honey must go along with the pup. Dwight still insists that the late Pooch will remain No. 1 in his affections.

Ashville—Owen W. Conrad, 60, a "store-keeper" in Stoutsville for the last 39 years, died Saturday at 8 p. m. at his home. His wife, Alice Barnes Conrad, died March 7.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Stein of Stoutsville and Mrs. Ethel Hanley of Ashville, and four sons, John of Stoutsville, Harold of London, Glenn of Circleville and Clarence of Stoutsville.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Stoutsville Lutheran Church, the Rev. F. J. Heine officiating with burial in Maple Hill Cemetery by Crites and Van Cleave. The body will be at the Conrad home where friends may call.

MARTIN GIRL, 12, VICTIM SUNDAY OF PNEUMONIA

Glenna Ann Martin, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Glenn H. Martin, 377 East Union Street, died Sunday at 11:20 a. m. at the home, pneumonia causing death. She had been ill one week.

The child was born in Columbus, January 24, 1929, a daughter of Glenn H. and Margaret Ryan Martin, her father preceding her in death.

Her mother is her only survivor.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. at the Mader Chapel, the Rev. Neil Peterson officiating with burial in Forest Cemetery. The body will be at the Martin home until 9 a. m. Wednesday.

DIRECTORS OF PUMPKIN SHOW MEET THIS EVENING

Pumpkin Show directors will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the City Council Chamber for an important session during which any definite plans for the Oct. 8, 9, 10, and 11 event will be discussed. It is important that all directors attend the meeting.

ducts properly entered, and satisfactorily exhibited. Also, he will have to look after the boys themselves to see that they do not become lost, etc. It will be a busy week but if the boys can come through with some prize money, it will be a successful and happy one. But no one is worrying a lot about any of these youngsters getting lost.

Ashville—Neil Joe Murphy has been spending part of his summer vacation at the home of his grandparents near Waverly. During the last week, Neil and his sister, Faye, have been visitors at Huron and Sandusky where they enjoyed bathing in Lake Erie.

63,000 OHIOANS AT STATE FAIR

Racing Program To Open; No Ambassadors Heed State Invitation

COLUMBUS, Aug. 25 — With all attendance records for a single day already broken as more than 63,000 persons jammed their way into the grounds Sunday, the 91st Ohio State Fair increased its tempo today with the opening of its five-day, $14,000 harness racing program.

Ten heats will be run in the four races scheduled, with the feature attraction the 2:15 trot, a three-heat, $1,000 event.

Fair Manager Win Kinnan estimated that "upwards of 50,000" would attend the fair today, and said that then maybe I'm a bit conservative. Despite a drenching rain which fell late yesterday afternoon, the attendance was officially given as 63,763, a gain of 22,446 over Sunday of last year, when rain also fell, and of 5,560 over the previous high established in 1939.

So far attendance this year exceeds that of last by more than 28,000, Kinnan said.

Although today was officially termed "Pan-American and Good Neighbor Day," with women and children admitted free as is fair custom on Mondays, Agriculture Director John T. Brown had received no answers to his invitations to South American Ambassadors who were invited to the celebration.

Judging began in earnest today as the fair assumed its true rural atmosphere. Judging of Belgians, sheep, cattle, swine, dairy products and farm produce begins and will continue all week, with more than $144,000 in premiums to be handed out to the winners.

Highlight of yesterday's program was the dedication of remodeled Music Hall by Mrs. John W. Bricker, wife of Ohio's governor. In her address, she stressed the trend toward cultural achievements at the exposition.

The Junior Fair also attracted its share of attention and members of 4-H clubs and the Future Farmers of America (FFA) were as active in its competitions as their elders.

Jean and Robert Griffith of Vaughansville captured all honors in the Shorthorn show, Jean's yearling getting the grand championship and her two-year-old heifer a first. Robert had first prize yearling heifer, shorthorn cow and calf.

A 14 month old Aberdeen Angus steer owned by Billy Ward, of Vanlue, topped the vocational grand championship of all breeds.

POLAND ALIVE
POLAND is not dead. She has more lives than a cat and fights for them as fiercely.

It's a long way from Posnan and Warsaw to Owen Sound, Ontario. But in Posnan a chemical works seized by the Germans, operated by them by means of enforced Polish labor for the benefit of the German armies, was set on fire four times in one night not long ago. The first fire might have been an accident. The second might have been caused by the smoldering embers of the first. The third may be guessed at. But the fourth is definitely sabotage.

In Owen Sound barracks have just been built. The first consignment of Polish soldiers have taken possession of their new quarters. They have been recruited from all over the United States and Canada, with a sprinkling of refugees. Smart young officers came with the men, who made a very good impression in their new uniforms. More parties of recruits will be coming soon.

Lieut. Col. Witold Zukowski is commanding the regiment while it is in its Owen Sound encampment. He holds his appointment from Gen. B. Duch, who after inspecting grounds and barracks expressed himself as delighted with the work done by the Royal Canadian Engineers who built it. Americans will like its name: Camp Kosciusko.

The Little Norway near Toronto has been training flyers for some time. Its existence is a comfort and encouragement to Norwegians at home. Paderewski would have been happy to know of this new and much alive Little Poland.

SAFER ROADS
HIGHWAYS in various areas report fewer accidents lately, in spite of heavier traffic. And the reason for this apparent contradiction is interesting. People obeying the patriotic plea to drive slower and save gasoline find that in doing so they are rewarded doubly for their virtue. They not only save fuel but they get into less trouble and have fewer accident bills. It is often so when we start being sensible about something. Nature seems to go out of its way to pile up rewards for common sense and decency.

Gasoline costs 64 cents a gallon in Australia, which must make it quite unnecessary to impose restrictions on pleasure motoring.

WORLD AT A GLANCE..... —By— Charles P. Stewart

CONGRESSIONAL opposition to President Roosevelt's foreign policy isn't, in reality, very much objection to his foreign policies, so long as they stay foreign.
A few spokesmen, like Senators Burton K. Wheeler and Gerald P. Nye object to them even for foreign speaking, on the ground that their tendency is strongly toward, which they don't like. In general, however, the critics say they find little fault with the administration's shaping of our international relationships, as such. What they suspect, they explain, is that F.D.R. is acquiring emergency necessities, an executive control over our domestic government, which they think the White House will be unwilling to surrender after the world emergency has passed.
Chairman Joseph W. Martin of the Republican national committee put it plainly the other day when he warned the country that he's fearful of a "post-war dictatorship."
It isn't altogether that anti-dictatorial alarmists are averse to a temporary surrender of considerable legislative authority to the government's executive branch, in the face of a crisis, with quick decisions almost imperative. What scares 'em is the personality of the particular chief executive to whom they're asked to make the surrender to, right now.
Congressman Jesse P. Wolcott clearly expressed this idea recently in the course of a cross-questioning of National Price Fixer Leon Henderson, as a witness before the representatives' banking committee.
IT MAY BE DIFFERENT
Jesse's thesis was that the business regulations desired by the administration, and advocated by Leon, threaten the permanent destruction of American "free enterprise." Answered Leon, "Similar regulations, adopted during the last World War, didn't destroy free enterprise. It subsequently was restored and we've had it ever since."
"Ah," said Jesse, "but there's a vast difference. In 1917 we were confident that the emergency powers then voted to Woodrow Wilson would be returned to the people at the emergency's end. But this time?"
Congressman Wolcott's implication was obvious; President Wilson was a trusted democrat, depended on not to WANT to be a dictator any longer than it was necessary for him to be one, whereas Jesse, at least doesn't feel so sure of F.D.R., nor sure at all.
I'm far from arguing that these inuendoes are justified. All I do is to mention 'em, in explanation of some of the voting that's being done on Capitol Hill. There unquestionably are lawmakers who vote "no" on issues on which they'd vote "aye" if they weren't skeptical of the administration's intentions later on. I'm sure of it because they tell me so.
Congressman Joe Martin, previously referred to, as Republican leader in the house of representatives, as well as national committee chairman, has just appointed a G.O.P. minority congressional committee to determine, if it can, the shape that American "small business" will find itself in at the war's end. He thinks it's liable to be completely absorbed, as individual little units, by emergency governmentization. Joe does not speak so much of we retailers, as of small caliber industries, employing up to, but not above, 200 hands apiece.
AFTER THE WAR
All these activities forecast a queer kind of a post-war and post-emergency political realignment. The New Deal came in as extremely liberal. Conservatism was solidly against it. Next election day, it's due to be represented as totalitarian. It may not be that way, but that's how it will be described by its opponents. Totalitarianism is denounced as despotic which certainly isn't liberal. Will despotic conservatives endorse it on that ground? They don't act like it now. But, if it's despotic, will liberals like it? Well, it calls itself liberal — and has, from the first.
Charley Lindbergh predicts a revolution.
Yeah, a revolution! Which way?
Maybe some entirely new sort of a socio-political-economic philosophy has got to be invented. There are Communism and Fascism and Falangism available to be stirred in. But perhaps democracy will triumph. The heck of it is that that also is all mixed up.

FRANCIS BIDDLE SLATED
WASHINGTON — Two months have passed since Robert H. Jackson was elevated to the Supreme Court, and Roosevelt's long delay in appointing his successor has started all sorts of rumors about who would be the next Attorney General.
One story put tall, handsome Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt in the lead. Another said Roosevelt was seriously considering Blair Bell, prominent Chicago attorney. A third gave the Justice Department to Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, hardhitting trust buster.
But you can now write it down that the next Attorney General will be the man who has been acting Attorney General during the two months of delay, Solicitor General Francis Biddle.
Also you can write it down that Biddle's successor as Solicitor General will be Charles Fahy, who is now Assistant Solicitor General. Both appointments will be announced shortly.
Francis Biddle, of the famous Philadelphia Biddles, was born in France, educated at a Quaker college, and first struck the New Deal limelight as chairman of the National Labor Relations Board. Elevated to one of the most important judgeships in the country, the third Circuit Court of Appeals, he resigned to become Solicitor General, just as Robert P. Patterson resigned from the Second Circuit Court to become Under Secretary of War.
Fahy got to know Biddle when both were on the National Labor Relations Board, Fahy as counsel. Georgia born, Fahy jumped from a Santa Fe, New Mexico, law practice to Mr. Ickes' Interior Department, has been lawing for various New Deal agencies ever since.

LIEUT. COMMANDER WINCHELL
Lieutenant-Commander Walter Winchell, U.S. Naval Reserve, in spotless white uniform, buttons polished, slightly nervous, reported for duty the other day. Saluting briskly, he announced to Executive Officer Lieutenant Wilson Starbuck that the famous Broadway column had been put on the shelf for a month, and he was ready for sea duty.
Lieutenant Starbuck, kindly, courteous, wanted to put the naval rookie at ease. After several friendly questions, he asked: "Do you still write dramatic criticism, Mr. Winchell?"
"Yes—for The New York Mirror."
"Do you remember the show at the Maxine Elliott Theatre last year called 'Sea Dogs'?" asked Lieutenant Starbuck.
"Yes," replied Winchell. "And I remember what I wrote about it. I said, 'It's rotten.'"
"I was the author", replied Winchell's executive officer. "As a matter of fact," he grinned, "that is what all the other critics said."
Later Winchell was asked to fill out a blank regarding his various duties. But he was a little hasty, and Lieutenant Starbuck handed the paper back. "Here, you forgot to fill in your 'peacetime occupation.'"
Winchell filled out the form and handed it back.

LAFF-A-DAY
WHEN YLENA found Scott Hamilton asleep on a davenport in the lobby of her New York hotel, she poked him in the chest. He awoke spluttering questions.
"Where am I?" is the appropriate question, I believe," the girl told him. "Now I'll ask one." She sank beside him. "What are you doing here?"
Smiles crinkled around his sleepy eyes. "Can't a guy just suddenly decide to travel?"
"Not in the middle of the winter season at the ranch."
"Brodie can take care of things for me just like Barker can take care of your business. Just like you, Ylena," he chuckled. "I'm there for the glamor."
The girl grinned in a mocking fashion. "Now let's have the real reason."
Scott yawned and sat up straight. "When Aunt Daisy called and told me you'd gone to New York again, I couldn't help remembering how the last trip turned out. Things go wrong. I got worried about you, so I got on the next plane." Sheepishly he looked down into her face. "And here I am."
Ylena cut in to tell him about Carlyle, about Mrs. Vincent's not unkind reception, about the reunion that now was a definite thing. For many minutes she talked, realizing that her friend's happiness over her good fortune equaled her own.
"Have you heard from Tate?" he suddenly asked.
"Yes," the girl said, not looking at Scott. "A wire." The uncomfortable, apologetic feeling she always had regarding her flame in Scott's presence rushed over her. "Let's not talk about Tate!" she said sharply. Scott's inquiry brought Tate's impertinent message to her mind. It renewed the anger she had felt toward him since his rude, threatening response, when she told him of the necessity of her New York trip.
Scott broke the uneasy silence. "At any rate, I'm glad to find you all right."
"Of course I'm all right. Why shouldn't I be all right?" Instantly her manner softened and she reached for the man's hand. "I'm sorry, Scott, to be so snippy. I guess I'm tired and haven't sense enough to know it. Heaven knows, I don't deserve your kindness."
"Tush!" Hamilton responded. "When are you going home?"
"Whenever the boat sails—I'm going through the Canal."
"I think I might like a little boat trip, and Lord knows it would be good for you to have a rest like that."
Ylena gave a high-spirited shrug. "Suit yourself." Slyly she added, "Rose is going along."
"That was?" Scott ducked like a prize fighter. "All the same, I still think I'll take a stab at it." His hand, idly tapping the davenport cushion, encountered a calling card. "Cosmo Peyton Harrison, Jr.," he read. "Whew! All that on top of a Park Avenue address. Here."
"It isn't mine," Ylena said. "Throw it away."
Scott's shrewd brown eyes studied the telephone number. "Nope, that has too many sevens in it to throw away. If possible, I'm going to buy this lottery ticket in Havana."
The following day Ylena took care that Scott met Vernon Stone, and was gratified at the mutual approval between them. Next she took him to the lawyer's apartment to see Rose.
"And don't start snorting at him," Ylena stressed, "because he's going to be our fellow traveler on the boat."
Defiantly, Rose did snort, "I thought we were taking this trip to rest."
Before she could object, Scott leaned over and kissed her. "YOU will get your rest, my sweet. I'll see to that."
The gray-haired woman exploded into unintelligible words, but Ylena saw the smile that she tried to hide by putting her lower lip on top of the upper one.
So did Scott. "You look like a chimpanzee, Rose, my angel."
They left her then, to dash over town, buying lavishly in the sections devoted to clothes for cruises and southern wear. Each time they were unusually extravagant they comforted the inner soul and each other with duets. "It can be worn later in La Madera."
As Ylena recovered from the first sickening lurch connected with making a wasteful return trip by boat, she became more and more enthusiastic. First, there was the natural excitement of making an unusual journey. Second, she relished the thought of giving Tate a little of his own medicine. Let him spend a few days worrying, let him have a few painful pangs of curiosity.
There was a sort of wicked consolation in the thought. It strengthened her as she and Scott trudged wearily toward her hotel, in the lamplighted late winter afternoon.
"Let's have some hot chocolate," Scott suggested. Ylena agreed. They turned the corner and there it was! In one of those not very large Madison Avenue places. A white chignon dancing dress, layer upon layer of the foamy material, an abbreviated wasp-waisted bodice, no trimming to deprecate the beauty of expert cut and drapery.
Scott followed the girl's avid green gaze. "Yeah! I have a feeling you're going to be a fool again." He pushed open the door of the shop and they went in.
On the ensuing day they left the city, driving to the pier in Vernon Stone's machine. Filed high beside the chauffeur were gifts for Rose and Ylena. Baskets, gay with colored cellophane paper and enormous bows of wide satin ribbon. Flowers, violet corsages to wear and Taisman roses for their little stateroom; fruit, hothouse peaches, pears, apples and bunches of grapes tied to the arched basket handle, candies, cool biting Mint Glacia, bonbons of real fruit fondant, caramels, delicate Jordan almonds.
"All these presents!" Rose said in a voice that tried to scold, but instead, sounded as thrilled as a high school girl accepting her first date. "You'd think we were bound on a regular ocean voyage on a liner." She gave the little ship, waiting at dock, a critical glance. "Instead of this canoe."
Her employer said, "But you're going on a much longer trip." He put his arm about her.
Ylena and Scott shook hands with Vernon Stone, then tactfully turned away from the tender, rather pathetic farewell between him and his housekeeper.
Ylena said, "It is a small boat, isn't it?"
"It somehow gets bigger after you sail," he told her. "Only it never gets big enough that you can hide from the people you don't want to see."
"In case you get the urge, you won't have to hide from me. I'll be hiding myself. I'm going to bed and not get up until Havana." They went up the gangplank together, stood at the rail for a while watching the activity about them, then left murky chill and went to their respective staterooms.
In less than ten minutes Scott was rapping on the girl's door with frenzied delight. "Guess what?" The skipper is "Runt" Maxwell. Haven't seen him since we went to Military Institute in Virginia."
"Captain Pierce Elliott Maxwell," Ylena recited. "Yes, I guess that could work into 'Runt' Maxwell, if you kicked it around a little." She eased the door shut as she said. "That's nice, Scott. You'll have someone to play with. Good night, Scott."
Evidently she meant her vows about resting. Except for meals and short, deep-breathing jaunts about the deck, Hamilton scarcely ever saw her.
Two days later he told her, "I didn't mean for you to hibernate like an old grizzly bear, when I said you needed a rest," he objected.
"I'm through sleeping." It was their last night out before Cuba, and they were sailing in warm breezes. "I'm all ready for Havana."
"How ready?" Scott demanded. "Ready enough to get up when we sight Morro, if I wake you?" She promised. Scott said, "Then it's a date. Right in this exact spot." He tapped the deck with his gum-soled shoe. "And high time. You've certainly neglected me. If I hadn't had Runt for company, I'd have been plenty lonesome. A guy can't even depend too much on him. He's always busy dusting his shiny uniform buttons or sailing the ship or something."
"I thought perhaps you were on the bridge last night. For a time it was anything but smooth sailing." "Just like true love," Hamilton murmured.
The girl leaned on the rail, her hands extended over the billowing water. Scott lit a pair of cigarettes. In the sheltered flame of his lighter, he glimpsed the diamond ring on her finger.
"Why don't you take that off?" he demanded.
She gave him a peculiar, straight gaze, then said in a flippant that failed to match her expression, "Maybe I'll lose it. Then I can collect the insurance."

Sick Folks Harmed by Too Much Attention
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
My friend, the surgeon, was philosophizing the other evening about some of his troubles. Many of them have to do with the eternal question of human nature. This gives him more trouble than the details of his surgical operations themselves.

For instance, there is the scene of the mother of the seven-year-old child who has been to the doctor that day and comes home and tells father that Dr. So-and-So says the boy's tonsils should come out. The father, who is a service man in a garage, and is thinking about expenses, says: "Who is Dr. So-and-So?" Mother replies that he is the doctor who took out the tonsils of the little girl across the street, and everything turned out all right.
Well, there is a long argument, and the father decides to take the boy to another doctor, and this one burns the tonsils out, not always with necessarily good results, so that the boy's future is sacrificed to immediate necessity.

Smothered With Kindness
Then there is the husband and wife who were sitting at home, and the wife says: "I hear that Gertrude Smith had an operation day before yesterday. Everybody is sending her flowers, and we ought to send some." "All right," says the husband, "send her a rose." "Oh! no, we can't do that," says the wife. "Clara sent her three dozen roses. We will have to send a large plant."
Also she says: "They say she can't see anybody, but Clara got in to see her yesterday, and Gertrude is an old friend of mine, much older than she is of Clara's, and I'm going to get in to see her tomorrow. Mrs. Jones is going to go with me, and we are going to have a nice talk."
And they smother the poor patient with kindness and she has a setback.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
F. J. R.: "I was interested in your statement that prunes contain sulphur. I have been told that sulphur has no value as a mineral because it is not digestible."
Answer: Whoever told you that sulphur was not digestible does not know very much about physiology. Sulphur is an absolutely necessary ingredient of the body being a necessary part of the muscle protein molecule. Most of the sulphur in the body is an organic combination with vegetable proteins.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained for any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, 1000 Broadway, New York City. The pamphlets are: "Three Ways to Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WHERE YOU WANT THEM
MORE AND more, fine players thinking of making an original bid are placing greater value on their chief honor strength in side suits, rather than in the long suit which they use to open the bidding. At that stage, they don't know that the hand is going to be played in the suit they name, or even that the opening bidder will wind up as declarer. A goodly share of the time, even the opponents will obtain the contract, and the opening bidder's cards must be used on the defensive.

   ♦ K Q 10       ♦ K Q 10
   ♣ 5 2           ♣ 5 2
Just compare those two hands. Each contains exactly the same amount of honor strength. In one of them, however, the spade suit is strong, topped by the two main honors. In the other case, it is weak, and those honors are on the side, in the short heart suit.
There are four main factors to consider in making a bid, since the fact that you bid indicates that your hand ought to be of some use to your side, no matter who gets the contract. Let's rate the two hands under each of these headings.
1. Defensive Strength—Hand No. 1 is immeasurably better, since there is virtually no risk of the heart honors being trumped. They should be worth two tricks. The top honors in the spade suit of No. 2 are in great danger of being ruffed, at least one of them, if the opponents play the hand at another suit; there is a good chance they may then be worth only one trick, perhaps none.
2. If Played at Spades—You have your proper number of cards for a safe bid in either hand; your partner requires the same number of cards to consider the

Jane Littleton Becomes Mrs. Harold Hunt Doan

Methodist Church
Flower-Filled
For Ceremony

White candles and baskets of white gladioli against a background of Oregon ferns and huckleberry foliage were the altar decorations of the First Methodist Church, Sunday, for the late summer wedding of Miss Jane Littleton and Mr. Harold Hunt Doan. Dr. Franklin McElfresh of Columbus, a former pastor of the Circleville church, performed the impressive double ring ceremony at 4:30 p. m., 250 guests having been seated for the service.

The bride, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Littleton of North Pickaway Street, gowned in traditional white satin, came to the altar on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

The semi-princess gown was fashioned with a shoulder yoke of real lace, the soft fullness of the front of the bodice being sheered in a wide, closely fitted half girdle. A row of satin-covered buttons marched down the back, the frock being moulded to the figure from shoulder to hip-line. The widely flaring skirt swept into a modish train. The long sleeves featured soft puffs at the shoulders and fitted tightly from elbow to wrist. Her veil, which had first been worn by Mrs. Nelson Doan of Toledo, fell to the end of her train from a close cap with a halo of seed pearls.

A shower of white blossoms fell from the single exquisite white orchid on the prayer book which the bride carried.

Autumn shades were worn by the four bridesmaids, Miss Eleanor Creighton, of Newark, and Miss Clayton Allard of Crooksville wearing green, Miss Geneal Hauser of Columbus and Miss Lydia Given of East Main Street wearing rust. The floor-length dresses of lovely slipper satin were of identical styling, having long, fitted torso effect backs. The softly draped fronts of the bodices were gathered to wide belts at the midriff. Sweetheart necklines and bracelet length sleeves were interesting details of the gowns which were complimented with gorgeous arm bouquets of gladioli.

Miss Mary Lee Newton of Paducah, Ky., served as maid of honor for her cousin. She carried a large spray of rust gladioli and wore a frock of gold slipper satin, fashioned like the gowns of the bridesmaids.

Little Suzanne Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant of South Pickaway Street, carried a flower basket filled with colorful blossoms when she served as flower girl. Her frock and hair-bow were of gold satin.

Mr. Edward Doan of Portsmouth was best man for his brother, Mr. Nelson Doan of Toledo, another brother, serving as head usher. The other ushers were Mr. John Cheek of Oklahoma City, Okla., a cousin of the bride; Mr. John Garvin of Columbus and Mr. William Shultz of Charleston, W. Va.

During the half hour preceding the ceremony, Mr. Hunter Chambers played a program of organ music, his selections including "Ave Maria," by Bach, "Liebesfreude," by Liszt, and Minuet by Beethoven. He played the Wedding March from Lohengrin as the bridal party came to the altar.

Miss Alice Barton's two vocal solos were "Still as the Night" and "The Dream Girl of Pi K. A."

One hundred and fifty guests were asked to the reception at the Littleton home following the wedding.

Mrs. Charles Doan, mother of the bridegroom, wore a smart line frock with corsage of yellow roses when she joined Mrs. Littleton and the bridal party in receiving the guests. Mrs. Littleton's corsage was of pink roses and her dress of black net.

Beautiful arrangements of summer flowers decorated the rooms for the affair. A beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom was at the end of the table in the dining room where light refreshments were served. A crystal bowl of white pompons centered the table which had tall white candles in crystal holders at either end. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Nelson Doan after the first slice had been cut by the bride for the bridegroom. Mrs. Fred Grant presided at the silver.

The new Mrs. Doan wore a

Newton-Smith
Announcement has been made of the wedding of Miss Louella Smith and Mr. William Newton who exchanged their nuptial vows August 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michael of South Bloomfield. The Rev. H. O. Harbaugh of Ashville officiated at the service which took place in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the young couple.

Wearing a street-length dress of blue crepe with a shoulder corsage of pink roses, the bride was given in marriage by Mr. Michael. Miss Gayle Michael was her only attendant.

Mr. Thomas Montgomery of Chicago, Ill., was best man for Mr. Newton.

Mr. R. Thomas Maston of Rochester, N. Y., played the Wedding March from Lohengrin. Mr. Maston, who is an accomplished musician, came by plane from the coast of Maine to be present at the wedding of his friends.

The bride had made her home with the Michael family since graduating from Ashville High School. She is a graduate of Lancaster Hospital School of Nursing, and is taking post graduate work in the College of Education at Ohio State University.

Mr. Newton is a student in the College of Medicine, O.S.U.

Garden Club Booth
The Ohio Association of Garden Clubs have a booth at the Ohio State Fair for which districts three, nine and 14 will supply hostesses and flowers on Wednesday, August 27. The Pickaway County Garden Club of Circleville is a member of the ninth district.

Mrs. Marshall Fenton of Chillicothe, regional director, requests the local club to take arrangements or specimens of flowers to the booth on that day. She asks, also, any member who can act as hostess for a period during the day to report to Mrs. Smith Hulse, president of the Pickaway County Garden Club.

Two lectures, one on flower shows, the other on flower arrangements, will be presented daily at the booth.

Mrs. Bates Hostess
Mrs. Robert H. Bates of North Court Street was hostess at a delightful dinner party, Sunday, at the Wardell party home. Several out-of-town guests were entertained in addition to Circleville relatives and friends.

An artistic arrangement of summer flowers centered the table where covers were placed for Mrs. George K. Smith and Mrs. Luther Bostick of Wauchula, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth

Hayward-Newmyer Vows Read in Bride's Home

Relatives And Few Friends Present
Sunday At 6:30

Mrs. A. D. Newmyer of North Court Street announces the marriage of her daughter, Mary Dunlap Newmyer, to Mr. John William Hayward of New York City, the ceremony being performed Sunday at 6:30 p. m. in the Newmyer home. The Rev. Francis Cooper, rector of the Episcopal Church of Ashland, Ky., read the nuptial service in the presence of relatives and a few close friends of the bride and bridegroom.

Ferns banked the mantle in the living room, baskets of white gladioli and tall white candles completing the decoration of the improvised altar before which the nuptial vows were exchanged.

Miss Newmyer's wedding gown was a beautiful model of white faille. Her long veil of white net was trimmed with the lace which had been on the wedding veil of her mother. She carried a bouquet of white roses, swansonia and tube roses.

Mrs. William Hearne of Ashland, Ky., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore white lace, and carried yellow rose buds. Mr. Hearne gave the bride in marriage. Mr. James Hodnet of New York came by airplane to be best man for Mr. Hayward.

Music by Della Roberts, a Columbus harpist, preceded the ceremony and was heard throughout the evening.

A buffet supper was served after the wedding ceremony, the table in the dining room having a lovely centerpiece of white roses and swansonia.

During the evening Mr. Hayward, who is the son of Mrs. William Hayward of Indianapolis, Ind., and his bride left for New York City. Mr. Hayward, a personnel assistant with the Grove Construction Co., of New York, will leave Tuesday or Wednesday for Jamaica where Mrs. Hayward will join him after about one month. The couple will reside at Kingston, Jamaica, for one year, while he is employed on the island.

In addition to a few Circleville friends of the bride, the out-of-town guests included the Rev. and Mrs. Francis Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Hearne, Miss Betty Rhodney, Mr. Marvin Keeton and Mr. Robert Shanklin of Ashland, Ky.; Miss Rilla Loomis, Urbana; Miss Evelyn DePuy and Mr. Emerson DePuy of Des Moines, Ia.; Mrs. Thomas Leonard and Miss Alice Davis, Grosse Isle, Mich.; Miss Elizabeth McCague, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Charles E. Trainor of New Castle, Pa.; an aunt of the bride; Mrs. Hayward of Indianapolis, Ind., mother of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Hooker Daoust, Cleveland; Miss Libby Smith, Akron; Mr. James Hodnet, New York; Mr. Nicholas Popa, Mr. Paul Quick, Mr. Don Smith, Mr. William Loving Jr., Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Radebaugh, Miss Judith Radebaugh, Mr. William Brown, Mr. Robert and Mr. Roderick Watts of Lancaster and Mrs. Lincoln Mader of Troy, O.

Dresbach, formerly near Kingston. On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright entertained Mrs. Ramsey and son Herbert, Mrs. Jane Patterson and Miss Anne Spencer at a 6:00 o'clock dinner. On Wednesday Mrs. Ramsey and son were entertained at the home of a cousin Mrs. Pearl Patrick and family after a short visit with Mrs. Ada Dresbach and family.

Miss Mary Spetnagel of Chillicothe was a visitor, on Sunday, at the home of Mrs. O. E. Raub and family.

Mrs. Herbert E. Ramsey and son Herbert Jr., of Hutchinson, Kansas, recently arrived to visit her aunts, Mrs. Jane Patterson and Anne Spencer, of Adelphi and Mrs. Harry Wright and other relatives in Kingston and Hallsville. Mrs. Ramsey is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis

About This And That

In Many Sports

Three major rules changes will prevail on Ohio high school grid-irons this fall, and all three are more or less important and will be noticeable by fans. . . . One permits the ball to be handed forward from one carrier to another. . . . This doesn't mean passing it forward since both ball carriers must have a hand on the ball at the same time. . . . Second is a revision of the pass rule which permits an offensive team to throw a pass into the end zone on fourth down, and if incomplete the team loses the ball at the same spot from which the toss was heaved instead of the ball going back to the 20 yard line. . . . This rule permits more attempts at scoring by the aerial system from close in. . . . The fourth ruling permits substitution of any player as many times as is wished in any quarter. . . . This ruling will help a small school such as Circleville where reserve material is never plentiful. . . .

Assistant Coach Tom Armstrong's brother Bill, a graduate of Muskingum, has received notice of his appointment as assistant coach at Tusculum College, Tenn., alma mater of the local mentor. . . . He leaves within the next week for his new job. . . . Tusculum's head coach, whose name is Laird, was in Central Ohio a couple of weeks ago and was trying to persuade Robin Friday, West Jefferson's one man ball club, to go south young man, but Mr. Friday is going—guess where?—Ohio State to play for Pee Brown. . . .

Those Reds are making fans sit up and take notice, and there will be lots of words eaten if the Rhinelanders are able to make the top rung. . . . There are still a good many of the loyal followers of the Cincinnati Reds believing they can do it. . . .

Candescant, horse formerly owned by the B. C. Carpenter interests in Pickaway County, is now running under the colors of Erway Briner of Lancaster. . . . He was unable to get in the money Saturday in one of the Thistledown track features, running fourth. . . .

The Birds served notice they are not going to falter in the home stretch by all but annihilating St. Paul Apostles, 24 to 4 and 8 to 1, to give them a record of 10 wins in 14 starts on the present road trip. The twin win, coupled by a double loss by second-place Louisville, again increased their lead to 8 1/2 games.

The Flock ran up 17 runs in the first four innings of the first game to allow Murry Dickson to breeze to his 19th hurling victory. In all, the Birds slammed out 22 bingles in that game and a dozen more in the nightcap, which Frank Gabler won with a five-point performance.

Louisville blew everything, including any remote hopes it may have had for the pennant, when it blew a 7 to 2 lead in the first game with Kansas City and came out on the short end of an 11 to 9 verdict. The Blues again came from behind to sweep the twin bill, the second tilt ending 7 to 4.

Indianapolis scored ten runs in a big fifth inning to take the seven-inning nightcap, 12 to 9, after dropping the first game to Milwaukee, 8 to 7.

Toledo and Minneapolis also split, the Mudhens taking the first fracas, 4 to 2, while Miller Hurler Harry Kelley hurled an eight-hit, 5 to 0 shutout in the finale.

Captaining the Ryder Cup challenger team, Jones registered a 2 and 1 victory over Ryder Cupper Henry Picard as his challengers copped six of ten matches yesterday to gain an 8 1/2 to 6 1/2 triumph over Walter Hagen's Ryder Cup golf squad at the Detroit Golf Club. The tournament, won 7 to 5 last year by the Ryder Cup aggregation, was played for the benefit of the United States Organizations handling recreational facilities for soldiers.

Tournament officials estimated that 12,000 fans turned out Saturday when the Ryder Cuppers built up a 3 to 2 lead in the Scotch foursomes, and an additional 10,000 yesterday.

Gothamites Surprised By New Louis-Nova Date

By Jack Mahon
NEW YORK, Aug. 25—Is Joe Louis afraid of Lou Nova?

That was the No. 1 topic of conversation in the more exclusive cabanas along hot-air Jacobs' Beach today following the sudden ten-day postponement of the Nova-Louis fight from September 19 to September 29, washed in with the tide last Saturday.

Mr. Nova and his Mr. Ray Carlen think so very strongly. So strongly, in fact, that Carlen has announced to the world that, unless Louis can go through with the brawl on the 29th, he will claim the heavyweight title and call on the public to back him up.

Carlen, a soft-spoken gentleman, has been very long-suffering in this affair Louis. He has remained on the sidelines while Joe belted over his bumps of the month and thought Nova rated a June fight with the bomber.

When Billy Conn got the shot, Ray agreed to wait till September. Now he claims Louis has no other way to escape Lou so he is, "trying to run out."

"I positively won't stand for any more delay," said Carlen today. "We've done everything they've asked and have waited long enough. I am convinced Louis and his managers know their time has come and do not want to risk the title against Nova."

"Except for a weather postponement or some serious injury to Louis, I will not stand for another postponement. No, not a day or a week or anything else. If they try to run out again, I'll claim the title and ask the Boxing Commission and the general public to support me."

Along the beach where premature reports that the fight was off caused several of the citizens to drop their racing forms, there was much talk, today, of the effect of the postponement on the fighters. The consensus of the sidewalk swarms was that Louis realizes he's in for the toughest opposition he's encountered in 18 title defenses and is wise in asking for more time to train. Most of the geniuses pool-pooled the idea that the Bomber was afraid of Lou—but many agreed there might be something to the theory.

These latter refugees from their landlord's glare did not think Joe was afraid of being injured by Nova. As they saw it Joe was afraid his terrific early season campaign (six fights in six months this year); his recent six weeks of strenuous golfing and equally strenuous legal battling (contesting his wife's suit for divorce) took too much out of the champion.

A victory for the Dodgers today would assure them of retaining their lead through the series. Whereas if the Cards can sweep these next two they can move to the front by a half game, as they prepare to wind up their eastern swing and return home to await the coming of the Dodgers next month for the final series of the year between the two leaders.

While the Dodgers and Cards were getting virtually nowhere in the settlement of their issue, the Cincinnati Reds maintained their role of mild threats by beating the New York Giants, 13 to 9 and 6 to 4. The third place Reds then moved up a game on the leaders and now trail the Dodgers by 8 1/2.

Joe Beggs, who relieved Johnny Vander Meer, won the first, and Elmer Riddle, who failed to finish the second, was the winner of the Philadelphia Phillies took two from the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 5 and 7 to 6, and Boston beat Pittsburgh, 4 to 3, in 12 innings, then lost 7 to 3.

The New York Yankees advanced back into a 17-game lead in the American by beating the second place Chicago White Sox, 5 to 1, and 8 to 5, while Cleveland moved back into third place with two over the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 5 and 5 to 2, behind Al Milnar and Al Smith.

Detroit downed Philadelphia, 7 to 4, and St. Louis took one from Washington, 4 to 3, in 10 innings, with a scheduled nightcap rain-out.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25—The Cleveland Indians today owned a modest record of four wins out of their last five starts, with prospects fairly bright for increasing that figure tonight when Bob Feller takes the mound against the Boston Red Sox in the final night game of the season. Charlie Wagner, youthful right-hander, is expected to oppose him.

The Redskins were back in third place today, only a game behind the White Sox, following twin victories in a double-header with the Red Sox yesterday. Southpaw Al Milnar and Smith registered the victories, although Jim Bagby had to come to Milnar's rescue in the ninth inning of the first game, which the Tribe won, 4-3. Score in the nightcap was 5-2.

Mishap Injures Tarlton Girls

Virginia Lucille Noble, 6, And Sister, 3, Cut On Face, Head In Route 56 Crash

Two Tarlton girls of ages 6 and 3 were injured Saturday about 10:30 p. m. when their father's automobile hit a parked car on Route 56 between Laurelville and the Route 56 intersection with the Adelphi road. The children were Virginia Lucille and Margaret Noble, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Noble.

OCHS TO RETAIN R. E. A. POSITION

South Central Cooperative Also Renames Stevenson For Another Year

Clarence M. Ochs, Fairfield County orchard man, has been re-elected president of the South Central Ohio Rural Electric Cooperative Inc., to serve his sixth year in that capacity. Mr. Ochs became head of the cooperative when it was organized and has retained his office since that time.

Howard Newell Stevenson, 314 North Court Street, Circleville, was re-named vice-president, and George Ruble of Lancaster is secretary-treasurer.

Ralph Head of Pickaway Township was re-named as trustee for another term serving with Mr. Stevenson and Roy White of Derby as Pickaway County's three trustees.

The South Central Ohio has received $864,225 in grants from the national REA for construction of electric lines in Pickaway, Fairfield and Perry counties, and consumption of current in the three counties is continuing to show a steady increase.

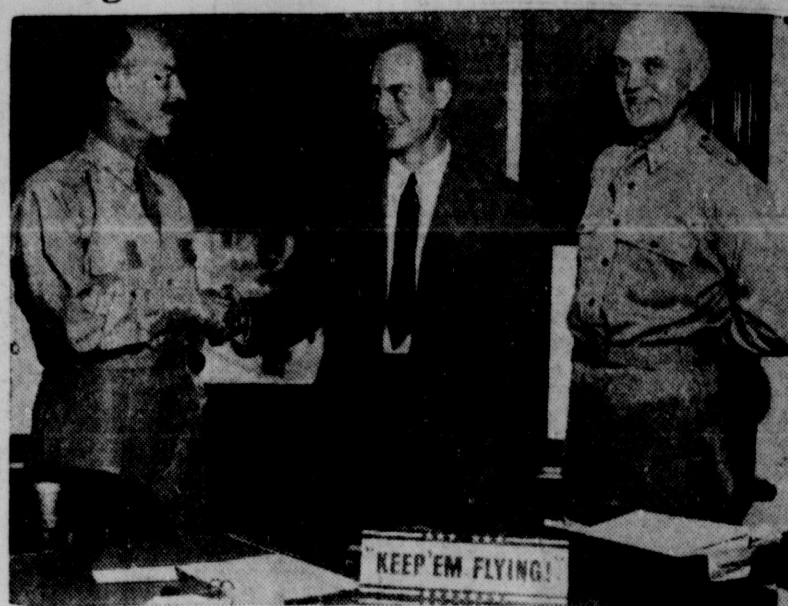

Work is to get under way this week on construction of 30 short extensions in the area covered by the cooperative. A new office building and storage plant are being built near Pleasantville, this project to cost $23,000. All offices of the South Central including manager's quarters, trustees room, assembly hall, display room and a warehouse for equipment and a garage.

COMICS WITH VALLEE

Joan Davis and Nat Pendleton, film comics, are the guest stars with John Barrymore on the Rudy Vallee program next Thursday, aired at 9 p. m. With this roster of comedians appearing together, the program has been geared for an all-out laugh session via a burlesque mystery thriller sketch titled "The Night Club Mystery." The dramatic personae finds Barrymore mine host of a razzle-dazzle night club, Miss Davis a razzle-dazzle songbird, Rudy a slick sleuth, and Pendleton his dumb assistant.

RADIO THEATRE OPENS

The curtain goes up on the Radio Theatre's eighth season of hour-long dramatic presentations on Monday, September 2, when Cecil B. DeMille will present Ginger Rogers in "Tom, Dick and Harry" with George Murphy, Alan Marshall and Burgess Meredith. The show will go on the air, as in former years, at 8:00 p. m. By casting the stars who made the movie of the same title so outstanding a success, DeMille has made certain that the season will start off with a bang.

LAUGHTON, BERLE PROGRAM

Charles Laughton got licked frequently during his boyhood in Scarborough, England. Once when his mother punished him he became so furious he tore the wallpaper from his bedroom in shreds. His father strode in almost at once in high dudgeon. "Why did you do it?" he asked his son. "Because grown people shouldn't hit little boys," young Charles replied. "Whereupon," says Laughton, "father gave me the real hiding I deserved." Charles Laughton and Milton Berle will be the stars when Three-Ring Time, the Balantine show, makes its debut Friday, September 12 at 8:30 p. m.

RADIO BRIEFS

James Melton has been making numerous guest appearances both on the air, in such programs as the Andre Kostelanetz "Music That Refreshes" series, and in concert, such as the Robin Hood Dell. Now he's booked to star for a single broadcast on the ninth "Treasury Hour" Wednesday, with Eddie Cantor acting as master of ceremonies.

Guest line-up for Kate Smith's program is now being set. The songbird is trying to get Merle Oberon to be the first personality on the variety series for the new season and has sent the screen

CAPITAL CHAFF

A Columbus, Ga., textile manufacturer, trying to enlarge his plant, was able to secure the lumber, bricks, everything but the nails. He spent days in Washington trying to get the nails. There are all sorts of big things in the country being held up by little things in Washington. . . . White House physician, Dr. Ross McIntire has forbidden presidential secretary, Marvin McIntyre, to remain around the White House much of the time while the air-cooling is on. . . . A lot of Washington bigwigs find air-cooling unhealthy. They should take a leaf from the book of erudite Judge Richard J. Hopkins of Kansas, who on hot days takes attorneys and witnesses out of a fetid court-room to the healthy, open spaces of his back lawn. . . . Latin American delegates to the Inter-American Coffee Board complain that the U. S. delegate, Paul Daniels, has mistaken the Good Neighbor policy for the old Teddy Roosevelt Big Stick.

DEPARTMENT OF SUPPLY

Inner Administration, increasingly disturbed by the chaotic situation in Defense, have quietly renewed pressure for the long overdue shake-up.

They have had a plan ready for months. Roosevelt has gone over it, discussed it, but has always laid it aside. Now with defense production continuing to drag and with armament clamor from Army commanders and Britain increasing, White House lieutenants are hopeful that the President will move.

The plan calls for a new department called the "Department of Supply."

Headed by an executive of cabinet rank, this new department would take under its wing OPM, OPACS, Priorities, the Defense Coordinator of Transportation, and all Army and Navy purchasing functions. The Defense Mediation Board would remain an independent agency but continue to work in close collaboration with OPM as at present. The Defense Housing Coordinator also would remain independent.

Roosevelt has had such a department in mind as far back as 1933, when by executive order he set up the Procurement Division within the Treasury. This was to be the first step in the gradual creation of a department to handle all government purchasing, including the Army and Navy. But the late War and Navy Secretaries Dern and Swanson objected.

SECRETARY OF SUPPLY

No. 1 inner circle choice for the proposed new cabinet post is Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Young, tough-minded and liberal, he displayed unusual executive ability during his two years as head of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Also, he is close to Roosevelt and has had no connection with the squabbles and disturbances that have racked the defense organization. . . . Personally, Douglas is content where he is. But last June, before departing on his vacation, he indicated he was ready to give up his life-time job on the Supreme Court if the President summoned him.

They were lunching together and as Douglas rose to leave, Roosevelt said: "Have a nice time, Bill. And hold yourself in

EFFORT TO HALT PLANE FACTORY STOPPAGE OPENS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25—Officials of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, the Aircraft Independent Vertical Labor Union, and the National Labor Relations Board met in Cincinnati today in an effort to prevent a strike at the company's new Columbus plant, which the independent union threatens to call in its demand for an NLRB election.

The $12,000,000 plant, nearing completion, is to manufacture war planes for this country and Great Britain.

Another Union, the CIO United Auto and Aircraft Workers, charged that the independent union is company-sponsored, and that the threatened strike as "a phoney and a cover-up sponsored by the company."

readiness for a possible change when you get back. I may have to call on you to step into the defense picture."

"I'll be ready whenever you say the word, Mr. President," Douglas replied.

NOTE—Non-New Dealers are pushing able Under Secretary of War Patterson to be head of the new Department of Supply.

STATE DEPARTMENT CONFERENCES

In these days of war, the public has the impression that the State Department is bursting with information for the press and that a press conference with Secretary Hull must be something to tell your grandchildren about.

But here is about an average conference with the Secretary of State. The questions cover every part of the globe:

Asked about a German plane over Iceland, Mr. Hull said he hadn't heard of it.

Asked about his conversations with the French Ambassador, he said he had nothing especially new in mind.

Asked about Ambassador Grew's report from Tokyo, he said he had nothing more at this time.

Asked about the U. S. mission to Russia, he referred the question to the White House. He did add that Stalin was agreeable to having a conference.

Other questions brought the answers that he had nothing on the subject, that he was not able to tell right now, that he would have to let the question pass, and that the questioner should ask the Post Office Department.

The only affirmative statement was to commend a speech given by Justice Murphy to the Knights of Columbus favoring aid to Russia.

Capper Says Tokyo Must Get Out Of Axis To Stay Away From Strife

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — British Prime Minister Churchill's speech warning Japan against further aggression was assailed in Washington today by Sen. Taft (R. Ohio), as an effort "to persuade the American people that they should go to war at once on England's side."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — Administration supporters today approved British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's address warning Japan against further expansion moves while Sen. Wheeler (D. Mont.), leading non-interventionist, branded it an attempt to "frighten" the United States into war.

The prime minister told Japan that Britain will line up with the United States if Japanese military expansion leads to war and also warned that Germany will war on America if the Nazis ever conquer Russia and England.

Wheeler, bitter foe of the New Deal foreign policy and all-out aid to England, declared that the address was "designed to frighten the United States into the idea that we have got to get into the war now or else Hitler will get us."

"We don't need any help from Great Britain or anybody else," he added. "We're able to take care of ourselves."

Few Americans, the Montanan added, will be impressed by the prime minister's speech.

DRIVER BLAMED AS SEVEN DIE

Big Bus Crashes Into Three Cars; Flames Envelope One

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 25—Carl Ramsey, 30-year-old Greyhound bus driver, today was ordered held on a reckless driving charge after his New York-bound bus crashed into three cars, killing seven persons and injuring 16 others, one critically.

Six members of one family were burned to death and a seventh was fatally injured. An eighth member of the same family was critically injured and was not expected to live. The six who were fatally burned were pinned beneath their car which burst into flames when the gas tank exploded.

The bus, carrying 33 passengers from Albany, also caught fire but not until the passengers had escaped through an emergency rear door.

Police said the accident happened when Joseph Bason, 38, Jersey City, N. J., turned out to pass two stalled cars on the highway. The bus rammed the Bason car, and then swung around and struck the two stalled machines.

Bason, hurled from the car, was killed instantly and his brother, William, 31, was critically injured. Pinned under the car were Joseph's wife, Blanche; his daughters, Charlotte, 8, Marion, 5, Barbara, 4; and his sisters, Elizabeth, 25, and Ann, 19.

HARRISVILLE, Mich., Aug. 25—Funeral arrangements were made today for seven young persons, including two teen age girls, who were killed in a head-on collision Sunday near Harrisville.

State Trooper Bertil Froberg said one car carrying six passengers collided head-on with the second auto while attempting to pass another machine on a hill.

Dead were Miss Jerilyn Wilson, 19, Detroit; Miss Jean Eno, 19, Hubbard Lake; Lloyd Gallagher, 21, Oscoda, sole occupant of the second car; and four other Detroiters—Melvin Erstad, 20, Lloyd Larson, 19, and Arthur Enger, 18, and Arthur Hanna, 19.

BIG CONTRACTS PENDING

Two Cruisers, Four Cargo Ships, Destroyers To Be Speeded

KEARNY, N. J., Aug. 25—Officials of the CIO's Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, sponsors of the 17-day walkout at the Kearny plant of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, today ordered the striking 16,000 workers to return to their jobs tomorrow.

The return-to-work orders were issued after Navy officials, acting under authority of President Roosevelt, took over the shipyards yesterday and assumed responsibility for the completion of the two cruisers, six destroyers and four cargo ships now on the ways.

Under the direction of Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, who was delegated Saturday night to take charge of the plant, foremen and other supervisory personnel met at the shipyard today as a preliminary to resumption of full operations on the $450,000,000 contracts at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Pickets Withdrawn

There was no show of force when the Navy assumed control yesterday afternoon and officers said they did not expect marines or uniformed sailors to be summoned to duty at the plant. Picket lines immediately were withdrawn after Navy officers entered the giant yards.

The CIO's decision to call off the strike at the shipyard, the second largest on the eastern seaboard, came after union leaders informed a mass meeting of the local at Jersey City that the government intended to enforce the "maintenance of membership" (Continued on Page Two)

.3 INCH RAIN RECORDED HERE IN EARLY MORNING

Survivor Of Zam Zam Talks At Camp Session

The hundreds of persons attending the annual camp meeting sessions of Churches of Christ in Christian Union at the East Ohio Street Mount of Praise will be given an eye-witness story of the sinking of the Zam Zam, Egyptian ship that fell prey to a German sea raider, when Miss Margaret Thompson of Monroe, O., a missionary who survived the sinking, appears on the program Tuesday between 8 and 9 a. m.

Miss Thompson was enroute to Africa where she intended to serve with the National Holiness Association missionaries when the Zam Zam was sunk in the South Atlantic about 1,450 miles from Cape Town.

Her story will relate various incidents of the rescue at sea, of the journey into Nazi-occupied France and of the return home.

The talk will be a feature of Missionary Hour, conducted each morning between 8 and 9 o'clock. The Rev. Bona Fleming of Columbus, one of the outstanding preachers attending the camp session, will preach at 7:30 p. m. Monday, highlighting the evening program.

Camp ground officials estimated that 12,000 persons visited the camp meeting sessions Sunday, moving in and out of the grounds until 10 p. m.

Tank Warfare in Louisiana Maneuvers

MECHANIZED warfare is practised by U. S. troops in maneuvers around Camp Polk, La., as a tank corps theoretically meets the enemy. Corp. Spirit of Redlevel, Ala., waits patiently with his Thompson sub-machine gun for a couple of rapid shots while his tank division waits in ambush for the enemy.

New 'Destroyer' Force Boosts Army's Morale

CAMP POLK, La., Aug. 25—The Army's new "destroyer force," a hard-hitting offensive arm designed to simplify the task of defense and at the same time deal telling blows to opposing armored units, was hailed today by Brig. Gen. Ludwig S. Connely, Cleveland, O., as a splendid morale builder.

General Connely, who commands the 73rd Infantry Brigade in the 37th (Ohio) division, said the new "tank-killer" units "will have to stand more tests before we'll know what they can do," but he pointed out that any new striking force developed in the army improves the morale of the men.

The first "D. F." unit placed in the field as Third Army maneuvers began in Louisiana this week was commanded by General Connely. It included about 300 trucks, with a squadron of observation planes attached.

Stopping an organized attack by a strong Panzer (armored) force is one of the toughest jobs the army faces, and the new destroyer force, a highly mobile outfit, is intended to make lightning stabs against the enemy to prevent or hamper the organizing of a tank attack.

The fire of 75's, 37 mm. and heavy machine guns is turned loose to destroy and cripple tanks and armored vehicles, the engineers block roads and build fields of tank mines, and the chemical troops throw out smoke screens to disorganize the potential attackers.

It was revealed that Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, Columbus, O., came near being captured by the opposing "Blue" army this week, when he and several staff officers, growing restless while their unit was being held in reserve, went to the front lines on a reconnaissance sortie.

In the nick of time they discovered the position of some "Blue" riflemen a few yards ahead. Beightler and his party dropped to the ground and by crawling managed to withdraw to safety. They then organized a platoon of their own forces and, through a flanking movement, captured the Blues who had come within an ace of taking the general and his party.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Charging that Rexford Guy Tugwell is a foe of American democracy, Sen. Taft (R. Ohio), in a speech in the Senate today, opposed his confirmation as governor of Puerto Rico.

The Ohio senator cited statements from books and speeches by Tugwell, designed to bolster the contention that the former New Deal under-secretary of agriculture is "unfit" to govern 2,000,000 people in the strategically located and crowded island possession.

"In my opinion, Mr. Tugwell has not the slightest sympathy with the ideals of American democracy," said Taft. "There can be little doubt of this because he has written many books and he has made many speeches setting forth his beliefs."

No Important Changes In Positions Of Reich And Soviet Armies Reported

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

British and Russian troops marched into the oil-rich kingdom of Iran this morning after repeated warnings to the Teheran government to get rid of Nazi "fifth columnists" in the country.

London reported that the Russians were driving south from the Caucasus, while the British were moving north into Southern Iran from Baluchistan.

Berlin disputed this, saying that the British were driving due east from Iraq.

That the German government attached the utmost importance to the invasion of Iran was shown by the bitterness with which the move was attacked in Berlin.

The German radio, quoting advices from Ankara, declared that the small but crack Persian Army was resisting the invasion, and spoke of "numerous clashes" around the Caucasian border.

A German spokesman said: "Great Britain is indisputably guilty of handing a sovereign nation over to Bolshevism by wilfully overpowering small Iran on a false pretext."

Meanwhile, the gigantic Russo-German war roared into its tenth bloody week with indications that the fighting is growing more intense, rather than slackening.

There was no appreciable change reported in the positions of the world's two mightiest armies. The Soviet high command, however, claimed a victory in the Baltic where four German troop transports were said to have been sunk.

Increasingly bitter fighting raged around Leningrad in the north, and in the great agricultural and industrial area of the southern Ukraine, Moscow had nothing to say about the fierce Soviet counter-offensive of the last three days on the Central Front.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Last week, Private Louis Summers was a sentry outside the guardhouse at Fort Sheridan. Today he was a prisoner, inside.

In between this turnaround, Private Summers was taken for a ride—literally and figuratively—by two fellow soldiers, Privates Harry R. Pearson, 20, and Ted Wegeman, 25.

Privates Pearson and Wegeman were in the guardhouse when Private Summers was outside. Saturday, Pearson and Wegeman got talking to Summers and the three men found they had something in common besides their uniforms. All were thirsty. (It was a warm day.)

So, Privates Pearson and Wegeman suggested the three of them go to a tavern in Waukegan for a drink, with Pearson and Wegeman as Summers' prisoners.

That was the idea. But after Summers had quenched his thirst he couldn't find his prisoners. They not only had walked out but left him with an $8 check to pay.

JOHN NEFF SR., FORMER COUNTY TREASURER, DIES

Complications following a long period of ill health caused the death Sunday of John Neff Sr. in Shreveport, La., where he and Mrs. Neff had been visiting for the last two months with their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Poor, Mr. Poor and family. Mr. Neff, whose Columbus home was at 432 Seventeenth Avenue, was a former resident of Circleville, where he was widely known.

He served as Pickaway County treasurer and was for many years clerk of the Jackson Township school board. He was a member of the Methodist Church of Circleville.

Mr. Neff, who was a retired farmer, was the son of John S. and Mary Owens Neff.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McPherson Neff, and the following children, Mrs. M. E. Noggle, West Union Street; Mrs. Chester Valentine, Salt Creek Township; Mrs. E. A. Wanner, Mrs. M. F. Cordray and John S. Neff Jr. of Columbus and Mrs. Poor of Shreveport. He also leaves eight grandchildren.

The body is expected to arrive in Circleville Tuesday.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noggle, 149 West Union Street, with burial in the family lot at Forest cemetery, in charge of M. S. Rinehart.

columnists" whom they charged had filtered into Iran to a dangerous extent, Britain and Russia sent their troops across the Iranian borders this morning.

The British foreign office announced the action had been taken after the Iran government indicated it was not prepared to accede to joint Anglo-Russian demands for expulsion of the Germans in Iran.

Nevertheless, Britain disclaimed any designs on Iranian independence or territorial integrity and said the troop movements were directed solely against axis agents menacing Iran's neutrality, British interests and neighboring countries. Russia proclaimed its troops would be withdrawn when the "danger is over."

But the move temporarily overshadowed other war developments since it brought conflict to a new front and opened up still more possibilities for its spread—possibilities which might sooner or later involve Turkey, India, the Russian Caucasus and the strategic Persian Gulf.

Reaction Awaited

Simultaneously Britain awaited official reaction from Tokyo to the dramatic address of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who warned that Britain will stand solidly with the United States in any showdown in the Pacific between America and Japan.

Reporting on his conference in the Atlantic with President Roosevelt, Churchill indicated this was one of the principal decisions reached. This morning a Reuters (British) message from Tokyo said authorities there were "amused" by Churchill's references to Japan and insisted Japan is "not menacing anybody."

Simultaneously the great Russo-German conflict raged without abatement. Germany reported that Nazi forces were still hammering relentlessly against Russian key points on the Eastern Front.

Germany also claimed that Nazi U-boats and surface raiders had sunk 25 British merchant vessels and warships in an attack on a huge convoy en route to Gibraltar in the North Atlantic.

War in the air continued between Britain and Germany. RAF planes raided western Germany while Nazi raiders dropped a few bombs on coastal areas of Britain.

CITY NEED NOT FEAR SERIOUS AID SITUATION

Relief Director Delos H. Marcy provided a little sunshine for Circleville's dark financial situation Monday when he said that barring anything unforeseen happening that Circleville's relief financing situation would not become any more serious because of shortages in treasury receipts.

Marcy said that while Circleville is having difficulty making ends meet that its relief load is not such a serious one.

He pointed out that August 1, 1940 the city owed Pickaway County $8,014.45 and that at the end of 1940 the Central Relief office carried over to the 1941 budget a city debt of $14,334.48.

August 1, 1941, found the city owing the county $3,618.48 or $4,395.97 less than the same date a year ago.

"The city will be able," Marcy said, "to take care of its relief debt at the end of 1941 with money already set up by its budget with funds in the process of collection."

Circleville on an average has about 55 percent of the total relief load handled by the Central office.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

A common rule in business is that work will not be paid for until the job is completed. This is chiefly to insure that it will be finished satisfactorily and within a reasonable time, although there may be additional reasons.

This same principle is sometimes carried over into the laws that govern Public Notices of various kinds. Ohio has a statute, for example, which requires the publication of school district financial reports. To insure this it empowers the school board to hold up payment of the clerk's salary until the law is complied with. In other words, the clerk is supposed to complete his tasks or wait for his pay.

The underlying purpose here is far more important than merely to "hold out" on the clerk, if need be. It is to insure that the finances of this major public activity shall be reported on regularly for the benefit of the taxpayers. A related purpose is to forestall any misuse of public funds.

This is sound public policy and should be followed to the letter of the law. As the law so often provides, the best medium for carrying out this purpose is the local newspaper. This insures a wide coverage and thorough reading while the cost is fixed by law.

conquered nations and to the enslaved people of the world."

Sens. Thomas (D) Utah and Capper (R) Kansas, members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, supported the prime minister's stand on the tense Far-Eastern situation.

Capper said that Churchill gave Japan some "good advice," while Thomas commented that Nippon was notified that "she must get herself out of the Rome-Berlin axis."

The address, Thomas added, restated "the whole American policy of non-recognition of conquest by force and was consistent with what our policy has been in the Far East."

LONDON, Aug. 25—All Britain today awaited a reply from Japan by word or deed—to Prime Minister Winston Churchill's grave warning that Britain would line up with the United States in the event further Japanese military expansion brings war to the Far East.

The first reaction from Japan was in the form of a Reuters (British) Tokyo dispatch.

This message said authoritative Japanese sources were "amused" by Churchill's references to Japan and that they said Japan is "not menacing anybody."

Churchill issued his warning to his dramatic radio broadcast reporting on his recent meeting at sea with President Roosevelt.

He also warned that Germany may next attack Turkey, Sweden or Spain and will launch war against the United States if she ever conquered Britain and Russia.

Declaring the Japanese advance to the south must be halted, Churchill reviewed "five long years" in which "Japanese military factions, seeking to emulate the style of Hitler and Mussolini" have been "invading and harrying the 500,000,000 inhabitants of China."

"Now they (the Japanese) stretch a grasping hand into the southern areas of China," said Churchill.

"They menace by their movements Siam (Thailand), and Singapore, the British link with Asia, and menace also the Philippine Islands under the protection of the United States."

"It is certain that this has got to stop."

"Every effort will be made to secure a peaceful settlement. The United States is laboring with infinite patience to arrive at a fair and amicable settlement which will give Japan the utmost reassurance of her legitimate interests. We earnestly hope these negotiations will succeed."

"But this I must say: That if these hopes should fail, we shall of course range ourselves unhesitatingly at the side of the United States."

This pledging British support to America in the event of a Far Eastern showdown, Churchill indicated this was one of the chief results of his historic conference with President Roosevelt.

Touching a wide range of subjects, Churchill praised the "magnificent" Russian resistance against Germany and declared that for the first time "Nazi blood has flowed in a fearful flood."

He said that "certainly 1,500,000, perhaps 2,000,000 of Nazi cannon fodder have bit the dust of the endless plains of Russia." He added that the Nazi war machine has been "surprised, stopped and staggered."

Churchill recalled that in the 8-point declaration, he and President Roosevelt "jointly pledged their countries to the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny." He added:

"This is a solemn and grave undertaking. It must be made good. It will be made good. And, of course, many practical arrangements to fulfill that purpose have been and are being organized and set in motion."

200 REPENTANT SINNERS CLEAN; FIREMEN ASSIST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Some 200 repentant sinners today were washed clean of their sins, thanks to the fire department.

The washing was done with a fire hose, hooked on to a pumper, and took place at Bishop C. M. "Daddy" Grace's mass baptismal ceremony in the capital yesterday.

A full city block was roped off for the ceremonial. A huge crowd gathered to watch the event and also participate when water from the big fire hose poured out over everybody. Even those on roof tops were showered.

Bishop Grace, patriarch of the United House of Prayer, assured the converts that the "angels in Heaven are taking down this event in short-hand and they're taking shorthand pretty fast."

The baptismal was accompanied by the blaring of two brass bands with plenty of wind power behind them. Thoroughly drenched, with clothes clinging to black, brown and tan bodies, the converts entered into the spirit with heads thrunk back and eyes rolling, trucked and jived round and round as the bands played on.

PENALTIES ON OHIO WHEAT CROP SET AT 1.4 PERCENT

COLUMBUS, Aug. 25—Ohio farmers have paid AAA marketing penalties or posted cash bonds for excess wheat under the marketing program on less than 1.4 percent of the 1941 crop, State AAA Chairman Elmer Kruse reported today.

Cash bonds, guaranteeing that excess wheat will not be sold, amounted to $348,097, covering 710,403 bushels of Ohio's 49,722,000-bushel crop. This is to be returned if the farmer complies with AAA regulations in the future.

To date, 7,017 Ohioans have either paid the 49-cent penalty or posted a cash bond to be held in escrow.

MOTHER OF TEN WANTS ALL SONS TO ASSIST U. S.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25—Mrs. Elizabeth Venhaus, widowed mother of seven sons and three daughters, wants America to be so strong no one will dare attack her, and to help America gain that strength, she said today, she stands willing to give all her sons to Uncle Sam.

One of Mrs. Venhaus' sons, Bernard, 19, lost his life when the Navy submarine O-9 went to the bottom of the Atlantic during a test dive June 20 off New London, Conn., and two other sons, Herbert, 21, and Robert, 17, are serving in the Navy now.

Robert joined the Navy July 17, less than a month after Bernard's death. Because of his youth, his mother's consent was necessary before he could be enlisted. She gave it willingly, and in a letter to the Navy forwarding her consent papers, she explained: "It is hard to do, but Bernard loved the Navy and for that reason I believe it will be a good place for Bob. I know Bernard would have said, 'Mom, sign those papers.' I only hope Bob puts his heart and soul into his work, as Bernard did. We must all bring sacrifices to attain our reward."

That letter was brought to the attention of Secretary of the Navy Knox, who in reply told Mrs. Venhaus that her spirit of patriotism "is the spirit which has made our Navy the greatest in the world—it is the spirit which built this country."

BOOKMOBILE TO APPEAR WEDNESDAY AT OHIO FAIR

The Circleville Public Library's bookmobile has been invited to be on display all day Wednesday, August 27, at the Ohio State Fair. It will be in front of the Music Hall.

A radio interview is planned for 2:15 p. m. Wednesday from the Music Hall. Among those to be interviewed are George McDowell, county superintendent of schools, Mrs. Dick Jones and family of Saltcreek Township who represent a typical family of bookmobile patrons, and Dan Pfoutz, librarian.

clause. It was the company's rejection of this clause that precipitated the strike.

Under this modified closed shop plan all present and future members of the union would have to remain members in good standing to retain their jobs, but non-members would not be required to join. No assurances on this point were given in the brief Navy statement announcing the taking over of the yard.

Owner Asks Cooperation

L. H. Korndorff, president of the shipyard, who asked the government to assume operation of the plant, rather than give in on the closed shop issue, issued a statement urging the workers to return to their jobs without recriminations or ill-will and to cooperate fully with the government.

There was no immediate indication whether the Navy planned to retain Korndorff and his staff to aid in the supervision of the shipyard.

second ward; Clarence Brown, New Holland, and W. M. Reid, fourth ward, who was appointed foreman.

Most important actions being considered were those charging manslaughter against Clyde W. Cooper of Portsmouth, who is blamed for the traffic death of infant James Franklin Black in June, and Dr. Edward Schumaker, 303 East Beck Street, Columbus, who is blamed for the Independence Day fatality of Mrs. Gladys Rhoades of Red House, W. Va., in a crash north of Circleville.

Other cases include non-support, assault and battery, larceny and driving when intoxicated.

The jury went into session at 9:30 a. m. and in the first 45 minutes had heard three minor actions. Witnesses have been summoned for Monday morning and afternoon and Tuesday morning and afternoon, but indications are that some of those to be heard Tuesday will be held over until Wednesday morning.

An additional case was sent before the jury Monday when Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges held James Toles, Maplewood Avenue, to the grand jury for assault and battery of Arthur Nungster. Toles is under $200 bond. A similar charge was put against Nungster by Toles following a fight that climaxed a pre-primary election "party."

STEER IS FOUND, AND SHERIFF HUNTS OWNER

Sheriff Charles Radcliff has found a steer, and now he is trying to locate its owner.

The sheriff asked The Herald Monday to inquire concerning the steer. It appeared at a county farm, and the farmer in whose possession it is at the present time wants its owner to show up. Radcliff, too, would like to return the steer, reported to be a good one, to its rightful owner.

Anyone losing a steer should contact the sheriff.

The Ashville Athletic Club drive to raise $5,000, with which to build a swimming pool started off with a bang Monday.

About 20 solicitors and club officials had an early morning ham and egg breakfast at Mrs. Pontius' Restaurant at which time the chairman of the drive committee, E. F. Schiegel gave his solicitors final, definite instructions and assignment of territory.

A unique feature of the affair was the manner in which the solicitors were notified regarding the breakfast, each being delivered by motorcycle messenger, a Western Union telegraph form. From the enthusiasm displayed it is hoped that this drive may be put over within a very few days.

All persons solicited for the purchase of a bond are requested to cooperate as fully as possible in the matter.

And that is good news again. Never did think a whole lot of Doc. Rockey's nice dental chair and those soup-filled needles that hurt awful while it lasted but the tooth yankin' out was really nice when it was all over and presented, free of charge, a couple or so of nice aspirin tablets. But about the good news. Saw this morning, a sign tacked to the door leading to that long stairway, reading: "Be back September 1." And that made the dozen or so old molars and such that should be discarded, take a few extra jumps for joy.

Grand Dad and Mom Higley received a telegram from their son Joe, Chicago, telling them of the arrival of a new daughter, their first child.

Have new neighbors since Saturday evening, Curtis and Mrs. Minix, of Portsmouth, now occupying the rooms in the Squire building, made vacant by the removal of Harold Pontius and wife.

The Mrs. Dora Baum surplus household goods sale Saturday afternoon was well attended with prices ruling in the "fair" class, they told us.

This is really "move week" again, Mrs. Blanch Baker leading the movers by occupying the Briggs dwelling near the U. B. church and Mrs. Baum to the Clara Sark place vacated by Mrs. Baker and Ed Irwin and family to their own home recently purchased of Mrs. Baum, East Main Street. And to get all set for the beginning of school a week from tomorrow, Coach Dick Carter and his family are expected here this week occupying the Will Hall property on the West Side.

D. E. Ruff, one of our well known farmers and stock raisers, home over on 23, north of South Bloomfield, has a 32-head herd of fat cattle on exhibit and for sale at the State Fair this week. Said the average weight of the bunch is around 1050 pounds. Mr. Ruff said that his was the only fat cattle, herd exhibit at the Fair from this county in the sale or commercial class as it is known among cattle dealers.

Met here Saturday evening Mrs. E. B. Hay, Madison Township, and her daughter the former Elizabeth Hay, now Mrs. Earl Drum, Columbus. Mrs. Drum was one of the senior class to first graduate here in the new school building, 1929. And following this, taught three years here in Grade One. Best recall her and the then Miss Margaret Jennings as real violinists, playing lead parts in the orchestra. Mrs. Drum said that the violin is a part quantity now, her time being devoted to bookkeeping work for the three paint stores operated by Mr. Drum.

Kenneth Holtrey says the "hardest" week of the summer is on hand with all the activities of the Ohio State Fair's agriculture exhibit affecting his high school boys to oversee. Sixteen boys have entries on display at the Fair and it will be Mr. Holtrey's duty to see that the boys get their pro-

"Here Comes the Colonel!"

BOB Hope and Dorothy Lamour have good reason for the worried look in their eyes in this scene from "Caught in the Draft," Paramount's comedy invasion of army life, which occupies the Clifton Theatre's screen tonight and Tuesday. They're hiding from the colonel, Dotty's father, who believes that bread and water is too good for the rookie who's in love with his daughter.

Dwight Radcliff's New Pet Is Cigar Ash Eater

Dwight Radcliff has a new dog, and from now on trustees at the Pickaway County jail will never again have the job of sweeping away cigar ashes.

This dog, a pedigreed toy Boston bull, has a mania for eating cigar ashes.

A couple of months ago Dwight's pal, Pooch, also a Boston bull but not quite so blue-blooded as his present pet, ran into the path of a car on West Franklin Street, and immediately departed for a one way trip to Dog Heaven. Dwight had owned Pooch about six years, and declared that no other dog would ever take his place.

Then his dad, Sheriff Charles Radcliff, bought the new pet from a dog fancier in Laurelsville, who said that the name Honey must go along with the pup. Dwight still insists that the late Pooch will remain No. 1 in his affections.

VILLAGE STORE OPERATOR DIES

Rites For Owen Conrad
Stoutsville, To Be
Tuesday At 2

Owen W. Conrad, 80, a storekeeper in Stoutsville for the last 39 years, died Saturday at 8 p. m. at his home. His wife, Alice Barnes Conrad, died March 7.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Stein of Stoutsville and Mrs. Ethel Hanley of Ashville, and four sons, John of Stoutsville, Harold of London, Glenn of Circleville and Clarence of Stoutsville.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Stoutsville Lutheran Church, the Rev. F. J. Heine officiating with burial in Maple Hill Cemetery by Crites and Van Cleave. The body will be at the Conrad home where friends may call.

MARTIN GIRL, 12, VICTIM SUNDAY OF PNEUMONIA

Glenna Ann Martin, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Glenn H. Martin, 377 East Union Street, died Sunday at 11:20 a. m. at the home, pneumonia causing death. She had been ill one week.

The child was born in Columbus, January 24, 1929, a daughter of Glenn H. and Margaret Ryan Martin, her father preceding her in death.

Her mother is her only survivor.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. at the Mader Chapel, the Rev. Neil Peterson officiating with burial in Forest Cemetery. The body will be at the Martin home until 9 a. m. Wednesday.

DIRECTORS OF PUMPKIN SHOW MEET THIS EVENING

Pumpkin Show directors will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the City Council Chamber for an important session during which any definite plans for the Oct. 8, 9, 10, and 11 event will be discussed. It is important that all directors attend the meeting.

ducts properly entered, and satisfactorily exhibited. Also, he will have to look after the boys themselves to see that they do not become lost, etc. It will be a busy week but if the boys can come through with some prize money, it will be a successful and happy one. But no one is worrying a lot about any of these youngsters getting lost.

Neil Joe Murphy has been spending part of his summer vacation at the home of his grandparents near Waverly. During the last week, Neil and his sister, Faye, have been visitors at Huron and Sandusky where they enjoyed bathing in Lake Erie.

63,000 OHIOANS AT STATE FAIR

Racing Program To Open; No Ambassadors Heed State Invitation

COLUMBUS, Aug. 25 — With all attendance records for a single day already broken as more than 63,000 persons jammed their way into the grounds Sunday, the 91st Ohio State Fair increased its tempo today with the opening of its five-day, $14,000 harness racing program.

Ten heats will be run in the four races scheduled, with the feature attraction the 2:15 trot, a three-heat, $1,000 event.

Fair Manager Win Kinnan estimated that "upwards of 50,000" would attend the fair today, and said that then maybe I'm a bit conservative." Despite a drenching rain which fell late yesterday afternoon, the attendance was officially given as 63,763, a gain of 22,446 over Sunday of last year, when rain also fell, and of 5,560 over the previous high established in 1939.

So far attendance this year exceeds that of last by more than 28,000, Kinnan said.

Although today was officially termed "Pan-American and Good Neighbor Day," with women and children admitted free as is fair custom on Mondays, Agriculture Director John T. Brown had received no answers to his invitations to South American Ambassadors who were invited to the celebration.

Judging began in earnest today as the fair assumed its true rural atmosphere. Judging of Belgians, sheep, cattle, swine, dairy products and farm produce begins and will continue all week, with more than $144,000 in premiums to be handed out to the winners.

Highlight of yesterday's program was the dedication of remodeled Music Hall by Mrs. John W. Bricker, wife of Ohio's governor. In her address, she stressed the trend toward cultural achievements at the exposition.

The Junior Fair also attracted its share of attention and members of 4-H clubs and the Future Farmers of America (FFA) were as active in its competitions as their elders.

Jean and Robert Griffith of Vaughansville captured all honors in the Shorthorn show, Jean's yearling getting the grand championship and her two-year-old heifer a first. Robert had first prize yearling heifer, shorthorn cow and calf.

A 14 month old Aberdeen Angus steer owned by Billy Ward, of Vanlue, topped the vocational grand championship of all breeds.

POLAND ALIVE
POLAND is not dead. She has more lives than a cat and fights for them as fiercely.

It's a long way from Posnan and Warsaw to Owen Sound, Ontario. But in Posnan a chemical works seized by the Germans, operated by them by means of enforced Polish labor for the benefit of the German armies, was set on fire four times in one night not long ago. The first fire might have been an accident. The second might have been caused by the smoldering embers of the first. The third may be guessed at. But the fourth is definitely sabotage.

In Owen Sound barracks have just been built. The first consignment of Polish soldiers have taken possession of their new quarters. They have been recruited from all over the United States and Canada, with a sprinkling of refugees. Smart young officers came with the men, who made a very good impression in their new uniforms. More parties of recruits will be coming soon.

Lieut. Col. Witold Zukowski is commanding the regiment while it is in its Owen Sound encampment. He holds his appointment from Gen. B. Duch, who after inspecting grounds and barracks expressed himself as delighted with the work done by the Royal Canadian Engineers who built it. Americans will like its name: Camp Kosciusko.

The Little Norway near Toronto has been training flyers for some time. Its existence is a comfort and encouragement to Norwegians at home. Paderewski would have been happy to know of this new and much alive Little Poland.

SAFER ROADS
HIGHWAYS in various areas report fewer accidents lately, in spite of heavier traffic. And the reason for this apparent contradiction is interesting. People obeying the patriotic plea to drive slower and save gasoline find that in doing so they are rewarded doubly for their virtue. They not only save fuel but they get into less trouble and have fewer accident bills.

It is often so when we start being sensible about something. Nature seems to go out of its way to pile up rewards for common sense and decency.

Gasoline costs 64 cents a gallon in Australia, which must make it quite unnecessary to impose restrictions on pleasure motoring.

WORLD AT A GLANCE . . . . . —By— Charles F. Stewart

CONGRESSIONAL opposition to President Roosevelt's foreign policy isn't, in reality, very much objection to his foreign policies, so long as they stay foreign.

A few spokesmen, like Senators Burton K. Wheeler and Gerald P. Nye object to them even foreignly speaking, on the ground that their tendency is strongly toward, which they don't like. In general, however, the critics say they find little fault with the administration's shaping of our international relationships, as such. What they suspect, they explain, is that F.D.R. is acquiring, in connection with purported emergency necessities, an executive control over our domestic government, which they think the White House will be unwilling to surrender after the world emergency has passed.

Chairman Joseph W. Martin of the Republican national committee put it plainly the other day when he warned the country that he's fearful of a "post-war dictatorship."

It isn't altogether that anti-dictatorial alarmists are averse to a temporary surrender of considerable legislative authority to the government's executive branch, in the face of a crisis, with quick decisions almost imperative. What scares 'em is the personality of the particular chief executive to whom they're asked to make the surrender to, right now.

Congressman Jesse P. Wolcott clearly expressed this idea recently in the course of a cross-questioning of National Price Fixer Leon Henderson, as a witness before the representatives' banking committee.

IT MAY BE DIFFERENT
Jesse's thesis was that the business regulations desired by the administration, and advocated by Leon, threaten the permanent destruction of American "free enterprise." Answered Leon, "Similar regulations, adopted during the last World War, didn't destroy free enterprise. It subsequently was restored and we've had it ever since."

"Ah," said Jesse, "but there's a vast difference. In 1917 we were confident that the emergency powers then voted to Woodrow Wilson would be returned to the people at the emergency's end. But this time?"

Congressman Wolcott's implication was obvious; President Wilson was a trusted democrat, depended on not to WANT to be a dictator any longer than it was necessary for him to be one, whereas Jesse, at least doesn't feel so sure of F.D.R., or not sure at all.

I'm far from arguing that these inuendoes are justified. All I do is to mention 'em, in explanation of some of the voting that's being done on Capitol Hill. There unquestionably are lawmakers who vote "no" on issues on which they'd vote "aye" if they weren't skeptical of the administration's intentions later on. I'm sure of it because they tell me so.

FRANCIS BIDDLE SLATED

WASHINGTON — Two months have passed since Robert H. Jackson was elevated to the Supreme Court, and Roosevelt's long delay in appointing his successor has started all sorts of rumors about who would be the next Attorney General.

One story put tall, handsome Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt in the lead. Another said Roosevelt was seriously considering Blair Bell, prominent Chicago attorney. A third gave the Justice Department to Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, hardhitting trust buster.

But you can now write it down that the next Attorney General will be the man who has been acting Attorney General during the two months of delay, Solicitor General Francis Biddle.

Also you can write it down that Biddle's successor as Solicitor General will be Charles Fahy, who is now Assistant Solicitor General. Both appointments will be announced shortly.

Francis Biddle, of the famous Philadelphia Biddles, was born in France, educated at a Quaker college, and first struck the New Deal limelight as chairman of the National Labor Relations Board. Elevated to one of the most important judgeships in the country, the third Circuit Court of Appeals, he resigned to become Solicitor General, just as Robert P. Patterson resigned from the Second Circuit Court to become Under Secretary of War.

Fahy got to know Biddle when both were on the National Labor Relations Board, Fahy as counsel. Georgia born, Fahy jumped from a Santa Fe, New Mexico, law practice to Mr. Ickes' Interior Department, has been lawing for various New Deal agencies ever since.

LIEUT. COMMANDER WINCHELL

Lieutenant-Commander Walter Winchell, U. S. Naval Reserve, in spudless white uniform, buttons polished, slightly nervous, reported for duty the other day. Saluting briskly, he announced to Executive Officer Lieutenant Wilson Starbuck that the famous Broadway column had been put on the shelf for a month, and he was ready for sea duty.

Lieutenant Starbuck, kindly, courteous, wanted to put the naval rookie at ease. After several friendly questions, he asked: "Do you still write dramatic criticism, Mr. Winchell?"

"Yes—for The New York Mirror."

"Do you remember the show at the Maxine Elliott Theatre last year called 'Sea Dogs'?" asked Lieutenant Starbuck.

"Yes," replied Winchell. "And I remember what I wrote about it. I said, 'It's rotten.'"

"I was the author", replied Winchell's executive officer. "As a matter of fact," he grinned, "that is what all the other critics said."

Later Winchell was asked to fill out a blank regarding his various duties. But he was a little hasty, and Lieutenant Starbuck handed the paper back. "Here, you forgot to fill in your 'peacetime occupation'."

Winchell filled out the form and handed it back. (Continued on Page Eight)

Sick Folks Harmed by Too Much Attention

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

My friend, the surgeon, was philosophizing the other evening about some of his troubles. Many of them have to do with the eternal question of human nature. This gives him more trouble than the details of his surgical operations themselves.

For instance, there is the scene of the mother of the seven-year-old child who has been to the doctor that day and comes home and tells father that Dr. So-and-So says the boy's tonsils should come out. The father, who is a service man in a garage, and is thinking about expenses, says: "Who is Dr. So-and-So?" Mother replies that he is the doctor who took out the tonsils of the little girl across the street, and everything turned out all right.

Well, there is a long argument, and the father decides to take the boy to another doctor, and this one burns the tonsils out, not always with necessarily good results, so that the boy's future is sacrificed to immediate necessity.

Smothered With Kindness

Then there is the husband and wife who were sitting at home, and the wife says: "I hear that Gertrude Smith had an operation day before yesterday. Everybody is sending her flowers, and we ought to send some." "All right," says the husband, "send her a rose." "Oh! no, we can't do that," says the wife. "Clara sent her three dozen roses. We will have to send a large plant."

Also she says: "They say she can't see anybody, but Clara got in to see her yesterday, and Gertrude is an old friend of mine, much older than I am of Clara's, and I'm going to get in to see her tomorrow. Mrs. Jones is going to have a nice talk."

And they smother the poor patient with kindness and she has a setback.

The Business Man

Another is the business man who has a sick person in the family. He has always been very efficient—"Do it now." His attitude is: "Well, if there is something the matter with this patient let's get it over with. Let's have the thing done right now. Let's get down to business and get some of this treatment installed. Let's not monkey around with anything, but get right down to business. Let's get some results."

It is very difficult to explain to this person that the human body is not necessarily a ledger or a business or an automobile that is broken down, but that it is something delicate and may need rest, and that all kinds of medical treatment can't be plugged into it. He wants action—and that is one of the reasons why graves are dug.

My friend, the surgeon, is thinking of writing a book called "Etiquette for Patients' Relatives and Friends." It might be very valuable.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. J. R.: I was interested in your statement that prunes contain sulphur. I have been told that sulphur has no value as a mineral because it is not digestible.

Answer: Whoever told you that sulphur was not digestible does not know very much about physiology. Sulphur is an absolutely necessary ingredient of the body being a necessary part of the muscle protein molecule. Most of the sulphur in the body is an organic combination with vegetable proteins.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Restricting Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WHERE YOU WANT THEM

MORE AND more, fine players thinking of making an original bid are placing greater value on their chief honor strength in side suits, rather than in the long suit which they use to open the bidding. At that stage, they don't know that the hand is going to be played in the suit they name, or even that the opening bidder will wind up as declarer. A goodly share of the time, even the opponents will obtain the contract, and the opening bidder's cards must be used on the defensive.

Jane Littleton Becomes Mrs. Harold Hunt Doan

Methodist Church
Flower-Filled
For Ceremony

White candles and baskets of white gladioli against a background of Oregon ferns and huckleberry foliage were the altar decorations of the First Methodist Church, Sunday, for the late summer wedding of Miss Jane Littleton and Mr. Harold Hunt Doan. Dr. Franklin McElfresh of Columbus, a former pastor of the Circleville church, performed the impressive double ring ceremony at 4:30 p. m., 250 guests having been seated for the service.

The bride, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Littleton of North Pickaway Street, gown in traditional white satin, came to the altar on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

The semi-princess gown was fashioned with a shoulder yoke of real lace, the soft fullness of the front of the bodice being sheered with a wide, closely fitted half girdle. A row of satin-covered buttons marched down the back, the frock being moulded to the figure from shoulder to hip-line. The widely flaring skirt swept into a modish train. The long sleeves featured soft puffs at the shoulders and fitted tightly from elbow to wrist. Her veil, which had first been worn by Mrs. Nelson Doan of Toledo, fell to the end of her train from a close cap with a halo of seed pearls.

A shower of white blossoms fell from the single, exquisite white orchid on the prayer book which the bride carried.

Autumn shades were worn by the four bridesmaids, Miss Eleanor Creighton, of Newark and Miss Clayton Allard of Crooksville wearing green, Miss Geneal Hauser of Columbus and Miss Lydia Given of East Main Street wearing rust.

The floor-length dresses of lovely slipper satin were of identical styling, having long, fitted torso effect backs. The softly draped fronts of the bodices were gathered to wide belts at the midriff. Sweetheart necklines and bracelet length sleeves were interesting details of the gowns which were complemented with gorgeous arm bouquets of gladioli.

Miss Mary Lee Newton of Paducah, Ky., served as maid of honor for her cousin. She carried a large spray of rust gladioli and wore a frock of gold slipper satin, fashioned like the gowns of the bridesmaids.

Little Suzanne Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant of South Pickaway Street, carried a flower basket filled with colorful blossoms when she served as flower girl. Her frock and hair-ho were of gold satin.

Mr. Edward Doan of Portsmouth was best man for his brother, Mr. Nelson Doan of Toledo, another brother, serving as read usher. The other ushers were Mr. John Cheek of Oklahoma City, Okla., a cousin of the bride; Mr. John Garvin of Columbus and Mr. William Shultz of Charleston, W. Va.

During the half hour preceding the ceremony, Mr. Hunter Chambers played a program of organ music, his selections including "Ave Maria," by Bach, "Liebesfreude," by Liszt, and Minuet by Beethoven. He played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bridal party came to the altar. Miss Alice Barton's two vocal solos were "Still as the Night" and "The Dream Girl of Pi K. A."

One hundred and fifty guests were asked to the reception at the Littleton home following the wedding.

Mrs. Charles Doan, mother of the bridegroom, wore a smart fine frock with corsage of yellow roses when she joined Mrs. Littleton and the bridal party in receiving the guests. Mrs. Littleton's corsage was of pink rose buds and her dress of black net.

Beautiful arrangements of summer flowers decorated the rooms for the affair. A beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom was at the end of the table in the dining room where light refreshments were served. A crystal bowl of white pompons centered the table which had tall white candles in crystal holders at either end. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Nelson Doan after the first slice had been cut by the bride for the bridegroom. Mrs. Fred Grant presided at the silver coffee urn.

The new Mrs. Doan wore a

Newton-Smith
Announcement has been made of the wedding of Miss Louella Smith and Mr. William Newton who exchanged their nuptial vows August 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michael of South Bloomfield. The Rev. H. O. Harbaugh of Ashville officiated at the service which took place in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the young couple.

Wearing a street-length dress of blue crepe with a shoulder corsage of pink roses, the bride was given in marriage by Mr. Michael. Miss Gayle Michael was her only attendant.

Mr. Thomas Montgomery of Chicago, Ill., was best man for Mr. Newton.

Mr. R. Thomas Maston of Rochester, N. Y., played the wedding march from Lohengrin. Mr. Maston, who is an accomplished musician, came by plane from the coast of Maine to be present at the wedding of his friends.

The bride had made her home with the Michael family since graduating from Ashville High School. She is a graduate of Lancaster Hospital School of Nursing, and is taking post graduate work in the College of Education at Ohio State University.

Mr. Newton is a student in the College of Medicine, O.S.U.

Garden Club Booth

The Ohio Association of Garden Clubs have a booth at the Ohio State Fair for which districts three, nine and 14 will supply hostesses and flowers on Wednesday, August 27. The Pickaway County Garden Club of Circleville is a member of the ninth district.

Mrs. Marshall Fenton of Chillicothe, regional director, requests the local club to take arrangements or specimens of flowers to the booth on that day. She asks, also, any member who can act as hostess for a period during the day to report to Mrs. Smith Hulse, president of the Pickaway County Garden Club.

Two lectures, one on flower shows, the other on flower arrangements, will be presented daily at the booth.

Mrs. Bates Hostess

Mrs. Robert H. Bates of North Court Street was hostess at a delightful dinner party, Sunday, at the Wardell family home. Several out-of-town guests were entertained in addition to Circleville relatives and friends.

An artistic arrangement of summer flowers centered the table where covers were placed for Mrs. George K. Smith and Mrs. Luther Bostick of Waukegan, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth

About This And That In Many Sports

Three major rules changes will prevail on Ohio high school gridirons this fall, and all three are more or less important and will be noticeable by fans. . . . One permits the ball to be handed forward from one carrier to another. . . . This doesn't mean passing it forward since both ball carriers must have a hand on the ball at the same time. . . . Second is a revision of the pass rule which permits an offensive team to throw a pass into the end zone on fourth down, and if incomplete the team loses the ball at the same spot from which the toss was heaved instead of the ball going back to the 20 yard line. . . . This rule permits more attempts at scoring by the aerial system from close in. . . . The fourth ruling permits substitution of any player as many times as is wished in any quarter. . . . This ruling will help a small school such as Circleville where reserve material is never plentiful. . . .

Assistant Coach Tom Armstrong's brother Bill, a graduate of Muskingum, has received notice of his appointment as assistant coach at Tusculum College, Tenn., alma mater of the local mentor. . . . He leaves within the next week for his new job. . . . Tusculum's head coach, whose name is Laird, was in Central Ohio a couple of weeks ago and was trying to persuade Robin Priddy, West Jefferson's one man ball club, to go south young man, but Mr. Priddy is going—guess where?—Ohio State to play for Pee Brown. . . .

Those Reds are making fans sit up and take notice, and there will be lots of words eaten if the Rhinelanders are able to make the top rung. . . . There are still a good many of the loyal followers of the Cincinnati Reds believing they can do it. . . .

Candescence, horse formerly owned by the B. C. Carpenter interests in Pickaway County, is now running under the colors of Erway Briner of Lancaster. . . . He was unable to get in the money Saturday in one of the Thistledown track features, running fourth. . . .

HEROES AND GOATS
 Heroes—Ernie White, Cardinal rookie southpaw who beat Dodgers in opener of doubleheader in crucial National League series; and Whitlow Wyatt who pitched and battled the Dodgers to a nightcap win and an even split for the day; Merrill May who doubled in the winning run to give the lowly Phillies a nightcap decision over the Cubs and a clean sweep of the doubleheader; Danny Litwhiler who homered twice for the Phils; and Bob Swift whose squeeze play bunt in the tenth with the bases loaded enabled the Browns to beat Washington and move into sixth place of the American League.

Goats—Kirby Higbe whom the Dodgers had relied on to win the opener against St. Louis and who the Cards shelled to the showers in the third inning with none out; Claude Passeau who went in as a Cub reliever in the last inning and let the Phillies score their winning run in the nightcap; Carvel Rowell, Boston Braves' second baseman who committed three errors against the Pirates.

Michael Jacobs, New York fight promoter, has been somewhat "under the weather" all summer with a sinus ailment.

Gothamites Surprised By New Louis-Nova Date

By Jack Mahon

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—Is Joe Louis afraid of Lou Nova?

That was the No. 1 topic of conversation in the more exclusive cabanas along hot-air Jacobs' Beach today following the sudden ten-day postponement of the Nova-Louis fight from September 19 to September 29, washed in with the tide last Saturday.

Mr. Nova and his Mr. Ray Carlen think so very strongly. So strongly, in fact, that Carlen has announced to the world that, unless Louis can go through with the brawl on the 29th, he will claim the heavyweight title and call on the public to back him up.

Carlen, a soft-spoken gentleman, has been very long-suffering in this affair Louis. He has remained on the sidelines while Joe belted over his bums of the month and thought Nova rated a June fight with the bomber.

When Billy Conn got the shot, Ray agreed to wait till September. Now he claims Louis has no other way to escape Lou so he is, "trying to run out."

"I positively won't stand for any more delay," said Carlen today. "We've done everything they've asked and have waited long enough. I am convinced Louis and his managers know their time has come and do not want to risk the title against Nova."

"Except for a weather postponement or some serious injury to Louis, I will not stand for another postponement. No, not a day or a week or anything else. If they try to run out again, I'll claim the title and ask the Boxing Commission and the general public to support me."

Along the beach where premature reports that the fight was off caused several of the citizens to drop their racing forms, there was much talk, today, of the effect of the postponement on the fighters. The consensus of the sidewalk swamis was that Louis realizes he's in for the toughest opposition he's encountered in 15 title defenses and is wise in asking for more time to train. Most of the geniuses pool-pooed the idea that the Bomber was afraid of Lou—but many agreed there might be something to the theory.

These latter refugees from their landlord's glare did not think Joe was afraid of being injured by Nova. As they saw it Joe was afraid his terrific early season campaign (six fights in six months this year); his recent six weeks of strenuous golfing and equally strenuous legal battling (contesting his wife's suit for divorce) took too much out of the champion.

A victory for the Dodgers today would assure them of retaining their lead through the series. Whereas if the Cards can sweep these next two they can move to the front by a half game, as they prepare to wind up their eastern swing and return home to await the coming of the Dodgers next month for the final series of the year between the two leaders.

While the Dodgers and Cards were getting virtually nowhere in the settlement of their issue, the Cincinnati Reds maintained their role of mild threats by beating the New York Giants, 13 to 9 and 4 to 4. The third place Reds then moved up a game on the leaders and now trail the Dodgers by 8 1/2.

Joe Beggs, who relieved Johnny Vander Meer, won the first, and Elmer Riddle, who failed to finish the second, was the winner the third Philadelphia Phillies took two from the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 5 and 7 to 6, and Boston beat Pittsburgh, 4 to 3, in 12 innings, then lost 7 to 3.

The New York Yankees advanced back into a 17-game lead in the American by beating the second place Chicago White Sox, 5 to 1, and 8 to 5, while Cleveland moved back into third place with two over the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 2 and 5 to 2, behind Al Milnar and Al Smith.

Detroit downed Philadelphia, 7 to 4, and St. Louis took one from Washington, 4 to 3, in 10 innings, with a scheduled nightcap rainout.

INDIANS TO USE FELLER; RED SOX WHIPPED TWICE
 CLEVELAND, Aug. 25—The Cleveland Indians today owned a modest record of four wins out of their last five starts, with prospects fairly bright for increasing that figure tonight when Bob Feller takes the mound against the Boston Red Sox in the final night game of the season. Charlie Wagner, youthful right-hander, is expected to oppose him.

The Redskins were back in third place today, only a game behind the White Sox, following twin victories in a double-header with the Red Sox yesterday. Smith registered the victories, although Jim Bagby had to come to Milnar's rescue in the ninth inning of the first game, which the Tribe won, 4-3. Score in the nightcap was 5-2.

There went the ball game and the Dodgers moved back into a 1 1/2 game lead over the Cards for the resumption of hostilities today, with the final of the four-game series slated tomorrow.

With Higbe, beaten for the eighth time against 17 victories, and Wyatt, winner of 17 against nine losses, used up yesterday, Manager Leo Durocher called on Davis, another right-hander today, to face Max Lanier, third southpaw to be used by the Cards in the series. Davis has won nine and lost six. Lanier has won seven and lost six.

Mishap Injures Tarlton Girls

Virginia Lucille Noble, 6, And Sister, 3, Cut On Face, Head In Route 56 Crash

Two Tarlton girls of ages 6 and 3 were injured Saturday about 10:30 p. m. when their father's automobile hit a parked car on Route 56 between Laurelville and the Route 56 intersection with the Adelphi road. The children were Virginia Lucille and Margaret Noble, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Noble.

Gets 10 Years

CAPT. John M. Holmes, above, found guilty of the death by shooting of Wilson D. McNary, Jr., in Redwood City, Cal., has been sentenced to a prison term of 10 years. After the shooting, Holmes turned the gun on himself and inflicted wounds which have permanently blinded him.

OCHS TO RETAIN R. E. A. POSITION

South Central Cooperative Also Renames Stevenson For Another Year

Clarence M. Ochs, Fairfield County orchard man, has been re-elected president of the South Central Ohio Rural Electric Cooperative Inc., to serve his sixth year in that capacity. Mr. Ochs became head of the cooperative when it was organized and has retained his office since that time.

Howard Newell Stevenson, 314 North Court Street, Circleville, was renamend vice-president, and George Ruble of Lancaster is secretary-treasurer.

Ralph Head of Pickaway Township was renamend as trustee for another term serving with Mr. Stevenson and Roy White of Derby as Pickaway County's three trustees.

The South Central Ohio has received $864,225 in grants from the national REA for construction of electric lines in Pickaway, Fairfield and Perry counties, and consumption of current in the three counties is continuing to show a steady increase.

Work is to get under way this week on construction of 30 short extensions in the area covered by the cooperative. A new office building and storage plant are being built near Pleasantville, this project to cost $23,000. All offices of the South Central including manager's quarters, trustees room, assembly hall, display room and a warehouse for equipment and a garage.

COMICS WITH VALLEE
Joan Davis and Nat Pendleton, film comics, are the guest stars with John Barrymore on the Rudy Vallee program next Thursday, aired at 9 p. m. With this roster of comedians appearing together, the program has been geared for an all-out laugh session via a burlesque mystery thriller sketch titled "The Night Club Mystery." The dramatic personae finds Barrymore mine host of a razzle-dazzle night club, Miss Davis a slick sleuth, and Pendleton his dumb assistant.

RADIO THEATRE OPENS
The curtain goes up on the Radio Theatre's eighth season of hour-long dramatic presentations on Monday, September 8, when Cecil B. DeMille will present Ginger Rogers in "Tom, Dick and Harry" with George Murphy, Alan Marshall and Burgess Meredith. The show will go on the air, as in former years, at 8:00 p. m. By casting the stars who made the movie of the same title so outstanding a success, DeMille has made certain that the season will start off with a bang.

LAUGHTON, BERLE PROGRAM
Charles Laughton got licked frequently during his boyhood in Scarborough, England. Once when his mother punished him he became so furious he tore the wallpaper from his bedroom in shreds. His father strode in almost at once in high dudgeon. "Why did you do it?" he asked his son. "Because grown people shouldn't hit little boys," young Charles replied. "Whereupon," says Laughton, "father gave me the real hiding I deserved." Charles Laughton and Milton Berle will be the stars when Three-Ring Time, the Balantine show, makes its debut Friday, September 12 at 8:30 p. m.

RADIO BRIEFS
James Melton has been making numerous guest appearances both on the air, in such programs as the Andre Kostelanetz "Music That Refreshes" series, and in concert, such as the Robin Hood Dell. Now he's booked to star for a single broadcast on the ninth "Treasury Hour" Wednesday, with Eddie Cantor acting as master of ceremonies.

Guest line-up for Kate Smith's program is now being set. The songbird is trying to get Merle Oberon to be the first personality on the variety series for the new season and has sent the screen

KINGSTON CLUB PLANS TWO-DAY EVENT, SEPT. 6-7
A two-day celebration, the first in the club's history, is being arranged for September 6 and 7 at the Yellowbud Fairgrounds by the Kingston Conservation Club.

Included in events planned by the club will be baseball games, band concerts, dancing, horse pulling contests, a horse show, tug of war, fox chase, boxing match, bait casting contest, a trapshoot, the Dixie Minstrels, and several other events arrangements for which have not been completed.

The club since its organization has been very active in civil affairs and its minstrel outfit has appeared in numerous community events.

Thomas Jefferson was the founder of the University of Virginia.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

ed it back: It read: "Peacetime Occupation: Dramatic critic."

CAPITAL CHAFF
A Columbus, Ga., textile manufacturer, trying to enlarge his plant, was able to secure the lumber, bricks, everything but the nails. He spent days in Washington trying to get the nails. There are all sorts of big things in the country being held up by little things in Washington. . . .

White House physician, Dr. Ross McIntire has forbidden presidential secretary, Marvin McIntyre, to remain around the White House much of the time while the air-cooling is on. . . . A lot of Washington bigwigs find air-cooling unhealthy. They should take a leaf from the book of erudite Judge Richard J. Hopkins of Kansas, who on hot days takes attorneys and witnesses out of a fetid court-room to the healthy, open spaces of his back lawn. . . .

Latin American delegates to the Inter-American Coffee Board complain that the U. S. delegate, Paul Daniels, has mistaken the Good Neighbor policy for the old Teddy Roosevelt Big Stick.

DEPARTMENT OF SUPPLY
Inner Administration, increasingly disturbed by the chaotic situation in Defense, have quietly renewed pressure for the long overdue shake-up.

They have had a plan ready for months. Roosevelt has gone over it, discussed it, but has always laid it aside. Now with defense production continuing to drag and with armament clamor from Army commanders and Britain increasing, White House lieutenants are hopeful that the President will move.

The plan calls for a new department called the "Department of Supply."

Headed by an executive of cabinet rank, this new department would take under its wing OPM, OPACS, Priorities, the Defense Coordinator of Transportation, and all Army and Navy purchasing functions. The Defense Mediation Board would remain an independent agency but continue to work in close collaboration with OPM as at present. The Defense Housing Coordinator also would remain independent.

Roosevelt has had such a department in mind as far back as 1933, when by executive order he set up the Procurement Division within the Treasury. This was to be the first step in the gradual creation of a department to handle all government purchasing, including the Army and Navy. But the late War and Navy Secretaries Dern and Swanson objected.

SECRETARY OF SUPPLY
No. 1 inner circle choice for the proposed new cabinet post is Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Young, tough-minded and liberal, he displayed unusual executive ability during his two years as head of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Also, he is close to Roosevelt and has had no connection with the squabbles and disturbances that have racked the defense organization.

Personally, Douglas is content where he is. But last June, before departing on his vacation, he indicated he was ready to give up his life-time job on the Supreme Court if the President summoned him.

They were lunching together and as Douglas rose to leave, Roosevelt said: "Have a nice time, Bill. And hold yourself in readiness for a possible change when you get back. I may have to call on you to step into the defense picture."

"I'll be ready whenever you say the word, Mr. President," Douglas replied.

STATE DEPARTMENT CONFERENCES
In these days of war, the public has the impression that the State Department is bursting with information for the press and that a press conference with Secretary Hull must be something to tell your grandchildren about.

But here is about an average conference with the Secretary of State. The questions cover every part of the globe:

Asked about a German plane over Iceland, Mr. Hull said he hadn't heard of it.

Asked about his conversations with the French Ambassador, he said he had nothing especially new in mind.

Asked about Ambassador Grew's report from Tokyo, he said he had nothing more at this time.

Asked about the U. S. mission to Russia, he referred the question to the White House. He did add that Stalin was agreeable to having a conference.

Other questions brought the answers that he had nothing on the subject, that he was not able to tell right now, that he would have to let the question pass, and that the questioner should ask the Post Office Department.

The only affirmative statement was to commend a speech given by Justice Murphy to the Knights of Columbus favoring aid to Russia.

WARNING ON BOTTLES
BOSTON—Don't throw bottles into the woods or brush. So says Arthur B. Harlow, president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Association, who remarks that brush fires are often started by broken bottles. The thick end of bottles often acts as a lens which under proper conditions will start a fire, according to Harlow.

Romance! Comedy! Action!

JACK Benny, the aunt in pants, is funny enough when he is himself but when he plays the part of an aunt, he is a mass riot. He is starred with James Ellison and Kay Francis in Brandon Thomas' comedy, "Charley's Aunt." He is the glamour girl of 1941, the funniest thing in skirts. Jack Benny as "Charley's Aunt" will have its last showing Wednesday at the Grand.

EFFORT TO HALT PLANE FACTORY STOPPAGE OPENS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25—Officials of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, the Aircraft Independent Vertical Labor Union, and the National Labor Relations Board met in Cincinnati today in an effort to prevent a strike at the company's new Columbus plant, which the independent union threatens to call in its demand for an NLRB election.

The $12,000,000 plant, nearing completion, is to manufacture war planes for this country and Great Britain.

Another Union, the CIO United Auto and Aircraft Workers, charged that the independent union is company-sponsored, and that the threatened strike as "a phoney and a cover-up sponsored by the company."
